

Jessica Walsh started in February as the newest development officer with the JPS Foundation. She comes from TCU where she was an Assistant Director of Development for the Frog Club. She was instrumental in helping the team with the $75-million Ed & Rae Schollmaier Renovation project, the $164-million Amon G Carter Stadium Renovation, the current $100-million East Side Expansion project and achieving banner years for the annual fund.

Before her departure, she closed a $3.25-million gift. Prior to fundraising, she put her Broadcast Journalism degree from TCU '02 to use (Go Frogs!). She was a reporter and anchor in East Texas and in North Carolina. Jessica is also involved as a mentor for Big Brothers Big Sisters, a Junior League member and is very involved with her church. She has been married for almost four years and her 2-year-old son keeps her on her toes. Jessica loves meeting new people and the opportunity to make a difference.
