12/21 Windows & Mirrors: Why Culturally Relevant Literature Matter

Presenter: Joshua Cazar, YWCA Parent Educator

6:30pm - 8:30pm

Registration Fee: $25

Viewing literature through a lens of windows and mirrors helps us understand that, in addition to texts being stories to be enjoyed, they are powerful tools of connection and a means of encouraging lifelong learning. When our children read books where the characters, settings and topics mirror their own lives something magical happens. In this training participants will learn all about cultural relevant literacy and the impact it has on or little learners, their families and the community at large. Topics will include the effects of culturally relevant literature, purposeful text selection and examination of our current collections
