

Spring 2017

Capsule Wardrobe Guide

- Colors Black, White, Denim, Olive, Poppy, & Blush
- 35 Pieces
- Over 100 Outfits
- Included in the guide: Item descriptions, outfit photos, trend report and shopping list.

Using the Guide

Customize the pieces for your body/style. Like maxi skirts more than midis? No problem, just change it out! Skinny jeans not your thing? Replace them with bootcuts, or another favorite style. This guide is a starting point and inspiration for you to build a wardrobe you love.

Shop your closet first! While the thought of buying 35 pieces can be a little daunting, you might be surprised by how many you already have.

Add accessories. Every cake needs a little icing on top, and while this guide includes 2 necklaces, don't forget to add your own watches, bracelets, rings, belts and more!

Look for this symbol  which denotes a wardrobe essential. If you're really trying to minimize your wardrobe, these are the must-have wardrobe workhorses that you absolutely need. If you're wondering which pieces to invest in, these are great choices.

Make your own combinations! There are definitely more outfits to be made from this capsule. I didn't show every shoe/necklace swap, but you could have a different outfit every day of the season.

Spring 2017 Trend Report

After winter, spring always feels like a fresh, light and airy renewal, doesn't it? Spring 2017 is no different...and this year, it feels especially girly!

A few trends that are sticking around are olive and blush (I think its safe to consider both of these out of the "trend" zone at this point), and the cold/open shoulder trend. That last one is something I thought would last a season, and yet, it keeps on keeping on. Necklines that are completely off the shoulder (think Bridget Bardot) are especially big, and might be fun for a date night top. Athlesiure doesn't show any signs of slowing down either, which is great news for those of you who live super casual lives. With this trend, there's absolutely NO excuse not to have a cute casual wardrobe!

The 90's revival is still going strong, with spaghetti straps layered over rib knit tops. Having lived through those looks once, I'll personally be leaving them alone this time around, but if you love it, go for it.

Here are 10 easy ways to work the seasons trend's into your wardrobe:

The colors pink and poppy

Florals of all shapes and sizes

Released hem jeans (especially cropped flares)

Bomber jackets

Ruffles

Details like lace-up necklines and strappy tops
