STAFF SELECTIONS

Dr. Deinhard Deidesheim Riesling Extra Brut

(Pfalz, Germany)

Jim Larson

Just the name of the wine is a real mouthful, right? Yeah, but it's worth it for this gorgeous German sparkler. If you like your bubbles super dry, strikingly crisp, with an aroma of beautifully fresh tropical fruit and a high-toned, mineral driven finish - then take note. Wine nut Stephan Attman is the creative force behind Von Winning, who since 2009 has wrung pure beauty from sights all over the Pfalz. His Sauvignon Blanc and Riesling bottlings remind me more of top French whites than of his neighbor's wines in the Pfalz. While this wine lacks the funkiness or weight of Champagne, if that's not what you're looking for, I struggle to think of a more highly polished, bright and verve sparkling wine. 2014 was a cool vintage around Deidesheim, which is excellent for sparkling wines. The head delivers a rich mousse with a warm pineapple note. Extended lees contact gives it a silky texture on your palate that keeps you reaching back for another sip to decipher all the flavors. Raise a glass this holiday season of pure sparkling brightness. #112191

PAIRS WELL WITH

Wavreumont

While still rooted in the monastic tradition of wine washed rinds, Wavreumont is smooth, nutty, and a tad firmer than anything you might associate with such tradition. Taking its milk from just three organic dairies in the Ardennes region of Belgium, Wavreumont brings you the rich complex flavors of meadow grazing cows, followed by the mild fruitiness of a washed rind.

2015 Ch. de Bressande Mercurey Blanc (Burgundy, France)

During the holidays I am asked for food and wine pairings more than any other time of the year. Even though I dispense this help all other 11 months, it makes sense that people want to be certain those special holiday meals have equally special wines to go with them. If the menu features poultry, pork, or seafood in shellfish form (lobster, scallop, crab), I often recommend white Burgundy. Chardonnay from this famous region of France is ideal for special occasions, but the cost puts it out of reach for most. Once in a while a bottle comes along that has the qualities I love without the astronomical price tag. Domaine de la Bressande from Mercurey, a small commune in one of the southern growing districts of Burgundy, is exactly that. With decadent scents of baked apple, cream, along with smoked sea salt and a palate that offers warm flavors of spiced pear, crisp apple, honey, and toast, you'll easily see why this has caught my attention. Splurge on the lobster - this is a special wine for a special time of year at a very special price. #11668

STAFF SELECTIONS

2014 Four Graces Pinot Noir

(Willamette Valley, Oregon)

Drew Fuller

Ever since the phenomenal success of the 2004 movie Sideways, Pinot Noir has enjoyed unparalleled growth. If I had had a crystal ball, prior to that release I would have purchased a vineyard in the most famous region of the U.S. for Pinot Noir, which is unquestionably the Willamette Valley in Oregon. Well, no such luck for me, but fortunately another family did just that! The Black family purchased an existing vineyard in the Dundee Hills of the Willamette Valley in 2003 as a family retreat. They immediately began turning the estate into a sustainably farmed, well-tended vineyard with the goal of producing rich, elegant, delicious and complex wines. The Four Graces 2014 Willamette Valley Pinot Noir is a great example of why so many people have fallen in love with this grape varietal. For starters, the 2014 growing season was near perfect, with warm days and nights balanced by just the right amount of rainfall to produce above average yields of very high quality fruit. The grapes for this blend came from Foley Family Estate in the Dundee Hills, Doe Ridge Estate in the Yamhill-Carlton AVA, and hand selected fruit from other vineyards in the Willamette Valley. It was aged for 9 months in 100% French oak. On the nose, the wine displays classic Pinot Noir aromas of ripe black cherry, spicy oak, and earth notes with hints of pine. The palate is lush yet restrained, showing a perfect balance between fruit, oak, and acidity. Pair this beautiful wine with roasted salmon, or with baked brie served with a warm cherry jam and French bread. #16317

2015 Andriano Pinot Grigio

(Alto Adige, Italy)

Italy's Alto Adige is as much a southern extension of Austria as it is a northeastern part of Italy. This Pinot Grigio is produced by a relatively old and very dependable cooperative in these high altitude vineyards. The pear and honeycomb aromas and flavors are balanced by refreshing mineral-laced acidity. Avoiding the extremes of softness and sharp acidity, this is an extremely versatile white wine. It's engaging on its own as well as the perfect partner for seafood or creamy pasta dishes. #103754

PAIRS WELL WITH Abondance Fermier

Abondance is a fantastic farmstead AOC raw cow's milk cheese from the Haut-Savoie department of the Auvergne-Rhone-Alps region of France. I like this because it is a little less intense than its cousins Alpage Gruyere or Beaufort. Light, nutty, and a little fruity with a bitterness that holds all the flavors together.

STAFF SELECTIONS

2015 Principi di Butera Nero d'Avola

(Sicily, Italy)

Sicily, in the Italian Mediterranean, produces delicious, flavorful wines at good value. Butera, in the wine district of Riesi, near Palermo, makes this outstanding red out of the Nero d'Avola grape. Bursting with fragrant fruit notes of dark red berries and plum, I like the taste that is both robust in savory flavor, yet soft in tannic structure. A hint of dried, wild mushroom and earthy espresso give just the right spicy notes to balance the full-bodied fruitiness. Our wine is aged in older Slovenian oak for one year to mature the taste and allow for a blending of fruit, acidity, and tannin. You'll be charmed by this wine that pairs so well with roasted meats and classic vegetable dishes during the holidays. #20832 (6 per case)

2011 Portal 'Late Bottled Vintage' Port

(Porto, Portugal)

Like many people, I sometimes get frustrated with the world of port. The wines are delicious, but all of the different bottlings, categories, and vintages (or not) drives the complexity factor of this category through the roof sometimes. And yet, honestly, I love port. The flavors are fantastic and the quality level is very high across the board (I can't recall ever having a bad bottle). This is a 'Late Bottled Vintage' port from the 2011 vintage. This means the fruit is all from one vintage (2011 was a spectacular vintage by the way), and the wine was stored in cask for several years before bottling. It's not a tawny, you could say it's a category of ruby, but really, who cares about the category? It's a spectacular bottle of port, ready to drink now or be laid down for up to 5 years (possibly longer, but is not intended for long cellar aging). If you open this for the holidays, decant it and let it breathe several hours before drinking it. You will find an opaque port, with strong fruit character, accented by brown spice notes on a very long and satisfying finish. This has strength, verve, and complexity – everything we want from a good bottle of port. At this price, I am more than a little impressed, and I think you will be too. #102909 (6 per case)

PAIRS WELL WITH Rogue River Blue

This is the very first blue to win the Best Blue Cheese title at the international World Cheese Awards, beating Stilton and Roquefort in 2004. This raw cow's milk cheese is wrapped in grape leaves that are macerated in pear brandy and then aged for 7 months. The flavor is big, deep, and earthy, with a heady aroma from the brandy that balances wonderfully with its tangy bite. This is one of the most special dessert cheeses you will find.

Taru Barrel Aged Honjozo Sake (720ml)

(Kitsukura Brewery )

The Kitsukura is one of the oldest breweries with over 300 years of history. It is nestled in the center of the Nagano Prefecture, with great access to the pure mountain water, an ideal ingredient for brewing. Its silky smooth body is wrapped with refreshing earthy notes, given from the cedar barrels in which it is aged. Barrel aged sakes are a unique gem in the sake world and were created to honor the Japanese tradition of pouring fine sake into cedar barrels during celebrations. Its fragrance, full flavor, and not too heavy body make it a very enjoyable sipper during the winter months. This unique sake is a must try and pairs wonderfully with cheese plates, turkey, or filet mignon. #112134

Dalmatinac (Croatia)

A blend of cow and sheep's milk. Since the rough terrain of Pag Island is largely inhospitable to cows, their milk is sourced from the mainland. The sheep's milk is collected from the same island breed as used with Paški Sir. While buttery, toasted nut flavors dominate, the paste also hints of aromatic herbs and salt of the grasses the animals eat. Winner of a super gold at the 2014 World Cheese Awards and listed as one of the 75 best cheeses in the world!

Cheese Shop Holiday Specials & Catering Menu Highlights

Comte Symphonie

Reg. $25.99/lb sale $19.99/lb

For over five generations, Marcel Petite and family have mastered the art of selecting, aging and caring for Comte. Made with raw cow's milk produced in the Jura Mountains and aged for 16-24 months at Fort St. Antoine, this reserve Comte has a firm but supple texture that melts in your mouth, leaving a sweet, toffee-like finish.

Bleu del Moncenisio

Reg. $19.99/lb sale $13.99/lb

Crafted high in the Alps bordering France in Piedmont, this blue is perfectly aged by Luigi Guffanti and sons before export. It shares a similar shape and texture to Fourme d'Ambert but is slightly denser and wilder tasting.

Epoisses de Bourgogne

Reg. $16.99/ea sale $12.99/ea

The classic French cheese was a favorite of Napoleon and hailed the "king of all cheese" by famed epicure and gastronome Jean Anthelme Brillat-Savarin. This washed-rind cow's milk cheese was created by Cisterian monks in the 16th century and two hundred years later it was given to the local farmers to make. It is a beautiful cheese best served with Trappist ales, Sauternes, or white Burgundies.

Dalmatinac

Reg. $18.99/lb sale $13.99/lb

Our second cheese from Paška Sirana is a blend of cow and sheep's milk. Since the rough terrain of the island of Pag is largely inhospitable to cows, their milk is sourced from the mainland. But all of the sheep's milk is collected from the same island breed as used with the Paški Sir. While buttery, toasted nut flavors dominate, the paste also reveals hints of aromatic herbs and salt of the grasses the animals eat. Winner of a super gold at the 2014 World Cheese Awards and listed as one of the 75 best cheeses in the world!

Blue Earth

Reg. $22.99/lb sale $18.99/lb

Blue Earth, named for the county in Minnesota near Mankato where this luscious, soft ripened cheese is produced, is super buttery and creamy with undertones of mushrooms, vanilla, and grass.

Alex

Reg. $20.99/lb sale $15.99/lb

Cheesemaker Albert Kraus uses raw milk from his brother & neighbor's herd of traditional Brown Swiss cows to make Alex, a cheese that embodies the landscape of the Allgäu in southern Germany and named after the train system that connects them to Munich. Alex is dense with a creamy body, balanced by notes of fruit and cured meats.
