The entire winemaking operation at Cline, from vineyard to winery, is one of California's most environmentally conscious. Although Cline's wines are not "certified organic", they follow organic principles in the vineyards that are more strict than many of the certification standards; and in the winery, they have recently converted to solar power and now sell energy back to their former provider. All of this shows in their wines, which are among the purest expressions of their varieties that we know!

STAFF SELECTIONS

2014 Wines of Substance Cabernet Sauvignon

(Columbia Valley, Washington)

I have been a huge fan of Charles Smith of Walla Walla, Washington fame, ever since I first tasted his Kung-Fu Girl Riesling, which I was predisposed to not like upon seeing the kitschy, edgy, stark black and white label that begged to not be taken seriously. Well, one taste proved you should never assume anything, since that wine was (and is) exceptionally made, especially for a winemaker whose true love is Syrah! Charles Smith is a rare person who has followed his passion for wine, and without formal training has established multiple successful wine brands. This wine is 100% Cabernet Sauvignon, from two vineyards in Columbia Valley, WA. The first is Goose Ridge, which produces ripe and rich grapes in very warm, dry conditions. The second vineyard is Frenchman Hills, which offers fruit with higher acidity due to cooler temperatures, rocky soil, and high elevation. Charles uses naïve yeast and ages the wine for 12 months in 50% new French oak, and bottles it unfiltered and unfiltered. The resulting wine is complex with robust flavors of cassis, black berry and plum with tobacco, earth, mineral and floral notes adding depth. Smooth tannins lead to a full bodied wine and a long, harmonious finish. All of this for well under $20, which begs the question, how can he do it?? While I can't begin to answer that, I am simply happy that he does, and I encourage you to try it for yourself. I'm not alone in that, as Robert Parker's Wine Advocate, 91 points, advised "savvy readers should buy a case of this." Cheers and enjoy with your next grilled steak or ribs. #108488

2012 Bishop's Peak Cabernet Sauvignon

(Paso Robles, California)

Bill McCleary

Can we get enough Cabernet Sauvignon?
Seems like this always popular red wine is the center of everyone's wine selections for prime steak all the way to pizza and savory cheeses. Last year, I stopped by the Talley Vineyards on the scenic Central Coast of California. While Talley makes stunning wines under their namesake label, they also make Bishop's Peak and this outstanding Paso Robles Cabernet. Their 2012 vintage hits high notes for me. The Cabernet grapes dominate with flavors of blackberry and dark cherry with all sorts of subtle spice like black pepper, cedar wood, and dried mushroom. Portions of Malbec, Merlot, and Cabernet Franc add to the complexity of the delicious taste. A solid 12 months in American and French oak give good maturity and texture to the wine.
Here's a Cabernet Sauvignon to enjoy at a bargain price during our fall sale. Find it in a wooden aisle box in aisle 6. #21325

STAFF SELECTIONS

2012 Chateau Mouquet

(Bordeaux, France)

I don't recall the last time I recommended a red Bordeaux in these pages as a staff selection, but I think it has been some time. Bordeaux generally is going through some stuff, most of which stems from a really great combination of lousy weather (which affects everyone equally more or less) and poor pricing strategies by the elite properties (which also has an impact on how the region is perceived). This combination has resulted in the wine-world's equivalent of pox on their house: really expensive wines of average quality. Since the 2009 and 2010 vintages we have become exceptionally picky, buying ONLY wines we think offer compelling value. This bottling is a relatively late-release wine that stunned us with how striking it was at its price point. There are still good and great wines coming out of Bordeaux at reasonable price-points, it just takes a lot of work to find them. We got a little bit lucky finding this one, but we bought all of it that we could, and I think you will love it when you get it home. Mostly Merlot with 15% each of Cabernet Sauvignon and Cabernet Franc, this dry red is earthy, fruity, savory, lightly herbal, and so well-balanced... it is a tremendous example of everyday Bordeaux and restores my faith in the category. I hope you try it because I think you'll love it. #110681

2015 La Freynelle Blanc

(Bordeaux, France)

La Freynelle Blanc is our most popular white Bordeaux wine for all the right reasons. 1) Great refreshing taste. 2) Styled for universal appeal. 3) Super price for this elegant dry wine. A combination of complementary grapes: Sauvignon Blanc for citrus and dryness, Semillon for body and texture, and Muscadelle for herbal, grassy flavors. This is a white wine for relaxing afternoons and leisure luncheons. A perfect aperitif with leafy salads as well as an ideal accompaniment to light fish dishes or creamy cheeses. Exotic fruit notes of kiwi, melon, and lemon-lime showcase a citrus and subtle spice core with a delightful acidic finish. A perfect food wine in a long-standing French tradition. In aisle 5 during our sale. #13589

PAIRS WELL WITH Rocket's Robiola

What tastes like a goat cheese, smells like a goat cheese, looks like a goat cheese, and is even named after a goat? This cow's milk Robiola! Cakey and spongy in texture, this gem from North Carolina is earthy and tangy. It is covered in a beautiful vegetable ash rind, making its appearance, coupled with its complex flavors, a great visual addition to any cheese plate. While it doesn't need much accompaniment, try this Robiola with a fresh baguette and a drizzle of bee pollen infused honey right on top.

2014 Vitiano Rosso

(Umbria, Italy)

Vitiano is back at Surdyk's after a prolonged absence. I'm really excited to rediscover this Italian red blend. Fabulous taste and exceptional quality and value are wrapped up in this wine. Brothers Riccardo and Renzo Cotarella of the Falesco winery have struck a perfect balance between the Italian tradition of a native grape in Sangiovese and the international varieties of Merlot and Cabernet Sauvignon. From the hills surrounding Orvieto in southwestern Umbria, the Cotarellas have blended equal parts of these three grapes to produce this dry, medium-bodied, flavor-filled red that shows freshness and a real Italian character. Just a right amount of tannin and rustic punch to give the fruit a bright and lively personality. Enjoy with pastas, pizzas, and roast meats. At this price - one is never enough! #5900

2012 Pio Cesare Nebbiolo (Langhe, Italy)

Noelle Starr

Italy's Piedmont region is famous for its Barolo and Barbaresco sub-zones, which often come with steep price tags and directions from your friendly wine consultant to let them age before opening. Though people are often prepared to spend serious money on these wines, the suggestion to age is often met with disappointment, as the plan was to open the bottle within a few days or even maybe hours of purchase. Fortunately the same grape (Nebbiolo) used to make these wines is grown throughout the Piedmont. Because the vineyards do not fall within the prestigious borders, the resulting wines can't carry the same gasp-inducing price tag and most are intended to be enjoyed upon release. Pio Cesare has been producing Piedmont wines of great reputation since 1881 and while they do make a stunning Barolo, they also make this lovely Nebbiolo from grapes grown throughout the Langhe region. The 2012 has Nebbiolo's tell-tale fragrance of rose petal, tar and warm berry, along with tobacco leaf and toast (from almost 2 1/2 years in French oak). The palate shows sweet red berries, hay, and spice box with a chewy texture and a bright finish. It is simultaneously powerful and pretty. Perfect to pair with my current culinary obsession: roasted shiitake mushrooms in truffle butter spooned over crostini. #103441

Black Truffle Gouda

Customers often note this Gouda in our cheese case with curiosity. "Truffle Gouda?" This raw milk farmstead cheese is noteworthy as a collaboration between the Dutch cheese making company Uniekaas and small dairies. It is made with traditional methods of cheese making and before it is pressed it is sprinkled generously with Italian truffles. It has creamy texture with a nutty piquant flavor that blends beautifully with the rich and earthy aroma of the black truffle.

2014 Andriano 'Finado' Pinot Bianco

(Alto Adige, Italy)

Fall weather brings a wide variety of temperatures, which means your Fall Wine Sale cart (online or instore) should still contain white wines. Whites that will happily accompany you onto your deck, patio, or balcony when it's still warm enough to do so, as well as pair with the contents of those CSA boxes and farmer's market stalls currently filled with amazing vegetables. As I ease into this season, I often find myself picking Pinot Blanc (also called Bianco or Blanco – depending on the region) and particular, Cantina Andriano's from Italy's Alto Adige in the far northeast. This region is known for making some of Italy's most stunning white wines, and Pinot Bianco from this area offers more than what you may be used to if you've only dabbled in its more popular cousin, Pinot Grigio. While there is certainly citrus notes (seems a must for most dry, Italian whites, this brings deeper flavors of honeydew, apple, pear and almond into the mix. Along with a more voluptuous body that is balanced out by noticeable acidity on the finish. Consider this your transition white wine...that you may want to enjoy well into winter. #24313

(Rhône Valley, France)

About five years ago we lost the ability to sell these wines here in MN because of a national distribution change that granted the rights to this brand to a company with whom we refuse to do business. Although our stance is a principled one, I was heartbroken. I had worked hard to get these wines here, the team at Surdyk's had worked hard to spread the word about how great they were, and of course Louis Barroul, owner and winemaker extraordinaire, had worked hard to make the wines themselves great. A lot of work, but the kind of work we enjoy doing. So the loss was significant. Recently, again through forces beyond our control, the wines were made available to us through an acceptable distribution channel. The timing could not have better, as it happened just on the verge of the release of the much anticipated 2015 vintage of the basic Cotes du Rhone. I think every one of us on staff bought a bottle the first week it was here, and the response was, shall we say, consistent. The wine is great. It is rich without being heavy, it has the familiar Rhone flavor profile of berries, herbs de provence, earth and leather, and it is bursting with its own personality and vitality. Seriously, try to find a way to buy two cases of this wine. It is tremendous, and is easily the best basic Cotes du Rhone I have had since the last time St. Cosme was available here.

Cheese Shop Fall Sale Features

Great summer weather makes for great fall cheeses!

When it comes to cheese, seasonality is one of the least understood aspects of artisan cheese production, because it often has little impact on factory-made cheese. For artisan and farmstead cheeses, seasonality plays a large role in the flavor profile. Summer milk is the best for making cheese, because livestock forage on fresh grasses from the pasture rather than grain supplements, and this provides much better nutrition and therefore more flavorful milk.

Oftentimes you can actually see the difference in color of cheese made with winter milk versus summer milk. Winter milk cheeses are generally white, while the summer milk cheeses will have a green, yellow, or straw colored tint. Many of our American artisan cheeses made May through August are aged four to six months before they are released.

The first of these aged cheeses start to arrive in September. If you want to experience this seasonality for yourself, delve into Marieke Goudas from Wisconsin, or Shepherd's Way cheeses from Nerstrand, Minnesota (their Friesago just took 3rd place at the American Cheese Society's 2016 awards).

Hansom Cab

Reg. $22.99/lb

Sale $18.99/lb

Hansom Cab is Lone Grazer's first attempt at a washed rind cheese, and we think it's a winner. Cheesemaker Rueben Nilsson washes his creamy, grassy cow's milk cheese with a combination of 2 Gingers Whiskey and Lapsang Souchong tea. The whiskey lends a note of smoke and the tea balances the milky sweetness with the tannins from the black tea leaves – a nice combination.

Marieke Aged Gouda

Reg. $19.99/lb

Sale $16.99/lb

From cheesemaker Marieke Penterman in Thorpe, Wisconsin. Aged specially for us, this almost three-year-old aged Gouda is one of our best-selling, local farmstead cheeses. Sweet and nutty, with a butterscotch finish.

Parmigiano Reggiano

Reg. $18.99/lb

Sale: $13.99/lb

From the Emilia-Romagna region of Italy, and aged a minimum of two years, Parmigiano-Reggiano has a piquant, complex, fruity, nutty, savory flavor we often identify as umami. Widely regarded as one of the world's greatest cheeses, we love to eat it out of hand with salami, prosciutto, good bread, and wine.

Delice de Bourgogne

Reg. $16.99/lb

Sale $12.99/lb

This is a triple cream (75% butterfat) cheese with a soft, white, bloomy rind, decadently rich and buttery with a just a hint of tanginess. Excellent with sparkling wines, fresh berries, honey, and almonds.

Campo

Reg. $26.99/lb

Sale $19.99/lb

They named this cheese Campo not only because the word means "field" in Italian, but also because it conjures the sensory experience of a campfire gathering. After weeks of washing the rind with Piedmontese birra, it finally forms a uniformly buttery exterior that looks like a clean river stone, and then it is cold smoked. Like a beautiful love-child of Taleggio and Havarti, this cheese has an ethereal earthiness.

St. Agur

Reg. $20.99/lb

Sale $16.99/lb

This double cream blue from the Auvergne region is a sweeter and creamier version of the well-known Bleu d'Auvergne. Spread on a baguette, St. Agur would make a wonderful dessert alongside a nice Loupiac or Sauterne.

Collier's Powerful Cheddar

Reg. $13.99/lb

Sale $10.99/lb

One of our customer favorites, Collier's Welsh Cheddar has a great flavor profile while being incredibly versatile. It is aged two years, so it is a little crumbly, with contrasting sweet and sharp notes. A perfect pair with crisp fruits, ales, ciders, and fall.

Challerhocker

Reg. $22.99/lb

Sale $17.99/lb

Challerhocker, translated as "sitting in the cellar," is produced by Walter Rass, the cheese-maker who makes Appenzeller. He washes the cheese in his own blend of wine, herbs, and spices, then ages it for at least 10 months. It is dense and savory, with notes of hay, leeks, brown butter, and a hint of caramel sweetness on the finish.

STAFF SELECTIONS

2010 Faustino V Reserva

(Rioja, Spain)

Drew Fuller

One of the wine regions that I love the most is Rioja in north-central Spain. The winemaker's respect for tradition there is strong, yet they also respect new advances in farming and winemaking techniques. The resulting wines have both ripe fruit (New World) and earthy (Old World) flavors. In addition, they follow strict ageing laws that allow a consumer to experience an older, more mature wine without having to age it for years in their own cellar. For example, at Surdyk's you can purchase Faustino I Gran Reserva 2001 Rioja, as that is the current vintage in the market! Faustino is located in the sub-region of Rioja Alavesa at an altitude of 1,200 to 1,800 feet, where the climate is very cool due to the influence of the Atlantic Ocean to the north. The wine is made up of Tempranillo (92%) and Mazuelo (8%), and was aged for a total of 41 months (17 months in 100% American oak casks, and 24 months in bottle). This reserve bottling shows compelling aromas of plum and cassis, with notes of cedar, clove and chocolate. The taste shows a perfect balance of New and Old World characteristics, with ripe fruit at first impression, followed by earth, toasty oak and clove flavors, and finishes with mocha and dried fruits with a silky smooth finish. Serve this great wine with mature hard cheeses, grilled meats, and lamb paella. Cheers! #108334

PAIRS WELL WITH Cave Aged Gruyere

This cave aged Gruyere has a robust profile to back up its rustic name. Its full body and deeply meaty notes set it a world apart from younger Gruyeres or Comtes. An assertive nutty finish and crunchy crystalized texture make this ancient cheese a solid snacking choice.

STAFF SELECTIONS

2015 Donnhoff Estate Riesling

(Nahe, Germany)

I first tasted this chilled and freshly opened. It is lovely in the ways finely made German Riesling should be, so finely knit that no one element jumps out to suggest a lynch pin. I then let it sit for a while and I tasted it again. After over a week's exposure to oxygen, the Donnhoff Estate Riesling finally seemed ready to have a detailed conversation. At 10% alcohol it's certainly not dry, but nor is it really sweet. The aromas are clearly Riesling, that not-quite discreet peach/pear/spice trio. The fruit seems assured without being aloof, admirable even, without being obvious. It would be lovely with a slow cooked pork roast, with savory and/or fruit laden preparations. Sufficient acidity would also allow the wine to be partner to rich dishes rather than a foe. In fact it would be a boon companion to many foods, but don't rush through all your bottles at once. This will age brilliantly for 5 or more years. #95089

PAIRS WELL WITH

Chiriboga Blue

This beautifully luscious German blue cheese is the creation of an Ecuadorian cheesemaker. Arturo Chiriboga and his Bavarian born wife moved to Germany, where he began making cheese at the Obere Muehle creamery in Bad Hindelang, using only the highest quality cow's milk from local alpine herds. Chiriboga has a cake-like texture, a rich butter cream flavor, and light fruity notes.

STAFF SELECTIONS

2015 Gobelburg Riesling

(Kamptal, Austria)

Andy Hall

Many of us in the Wine Department have watched, consumed, and followed this wine with interest for nearly a decade. We've always liked this 'little' Austrian white and it has always sold well. I do not recall a better version of this wine, and I have chosen to point to it here for one very specific reason: it has a real inner spark. What is that? I would liken it to the spark that makes you realize the person you just met will be your friend. It is the thing that differentiates what is average and acceptable from what is extraordinary and special. The wine is technically perfect in the way that Donnhoff's wines have the kind of balance, grace, and poise that make the whole 'wine-making' thing look easy. It comes with a brightness and an intensity that makes your eyes open, their focus on nothing in particular, and your soul just speaks the word "Oh!" Smiling follows, sometimes with laughter caused by disbelief that something so small can be so good. All of this from the Riesling grape, grown in a small central European country, and sold here in Minnesota for a song of a price. Dang. #12602

PAIRS WELL WITH

Miranda

I first tried Miranda when it was recommended to me by a colleague, and I fell in love at first taste. It is made by Jos Vulto of Vulto Creamery, an incredibly talented artisan with a unique story, who I was able to meet this summer at the American Cheese Society conference. Miranda is a small, raw cow's milk, soft-ripened cheese that is washed in absinthe. It's an approachable "stinky" cheese with deep earthy aromas, a smooth silky paste, and sweet pungent notes of cultured butter, nuts, and wet hay. Miranda is perhaps the most elegant washed-rind cheese I have ever experienced.

Evolution White '19th Edition'

(Oregon)

Oregon is most famous for their cool climate Pinot Noirs. This is so much a part of their renown that few people pay much, if any, attention to the white wines. This white is the product of the collaborative efforts of owner, winemaker, and other staff members at Sokol Blosser Winery. There are 9 different grape varieties used to make this, in some ways, chameleon-like wine. Taken at face value it shows citrus and tropical aromas and flavors. It is medium-bodied, flavorful and refreshing – end of story. Except when it is paired with food. With grilled chicken, it handles the smoke and fatty skin perfectly. With teriyaki pork chops – no problem. Savory Asian dishes are often not just adequately balanced by this wine, but in fact complemented. And one last word: Thanksgiving. #51409

2014 Overgaauw 'Shepard's Cottage' Red

(Stellenbosch, South Africa)

Noelle Starr

Come fall, I want to stock up on inexpensive red wine that offers versatility food-wise and pleasure drink-wise. While participating in a blind judging event last year, one wine in particular caught my attention. I was surprised when the bottle was revealed to see this label. While Shepherd's Cottage from Overgaauw, one of South Africa's pioneer wine estates, has been on our shelf for a long time, I have managed to miss it. It is now my job to make sure you don't. A blend of Cabernet Sauvignon (60%) and Merlot (40%) that shows concentrated berry aromas and flavors. I mean all the berries. And while fruit is certainly present – it is not jammy or sweet. The supporting notes of violet, cocoa powder, a definite mineral presence along with a hint of espresso bring balance, and the mouth coating texture and serious structure make this a wine worthy of a higher price tag than it possesses. Perfect for just about anything on your dinner menu, but incredibly delicious with an aged Cheddar (our Cheese Shop carries around 20!) especially in the form of homemade Mac-and-Cheese. #100996

El Maestro Sierra Oloroso (375 ml)

(Jerez, Spain)

Sherry is Spain's most glorious fortified wine and is made in Jerez, which is a small wedge of land along the Atlantic Ocean in southwest Spain. It's fortified with brandy to between 15 and 22 percent ABV, and ranges from bone dry to stunningly sweet. El Maestro Sierra is the crown jewel in Jerez, with a deep stock of old, complex sherries that have aged virtually untouched for 30 years. This Oloroso is made with 100% Palomino grapes and aged for 15 years in American oak butts through oxidative ageing, where the wine is constantly exposed to the ocean air. Over that time the wine develops a deep mahogany color, a rich mouthfeel, and a subtle brininess from the exposure to the Atlantic Ocean. This wine is a treat for the senses, and offers a perfect introduction to the world of sherry, which is a staple of wine lovers across continental Europe. This beautiful wine pairs effortlessly with salumi, hard cheeses, and olives, and can even accompany most beef dishes. Salut!

2014 Powers Cabernet Sauvignon (3 Liter Box)

(Washington)

Remember when it was easy to tell good wine from bad? Screw caps – bad. Boxed wine – bad. And cans were only for cheap beer. Well folks, all of that has changed and changed for the good. Powers Winery is located in Kennewick, Washington in the heart of wine country at the convergence of the Yakima and Columbia rivers. Here they bottle distinctive Cabernets from various vineyard areas that are some of the most characterful and affordable wines of their type. Then there is this 3 liter box (often referred to as "bag in a box"). The wine is first and foremost Cabernet Sauvignon. Unlike other ultra-affordable Cabernets, this shows dark fruit, medium-full body, light tannins, and a lively finish. The complex fruit and toast notes give clear voice to the grape they are made from. The second really great part of this wine is it stays fresh for an extended period of time, because the bag collapses around the wine and doesn't allow oxygen to negatively affect the flavors. It will stay fresh for a month, but it is so tasty it should disappear quicker than that. (Six 3-Liter Boxes per case) #110824

Dewatsuru Kimoto Junmai 720ml

(Akita, Japan)

Like many sake breweries, the Dewatsuru (Akita Seishu) brewery has a long history. It remains under the same family ownership that founded it back in 1865 and continues to follow the philosophy they started with, "Good harmony makes good sake." Well, they must have tremendous harmony happening, because they are producing really good sake! Rich with a mellow, earthy quality and pleasing acidity, this Kimoto-style sake is made by pole-ramming the rice and yeast together. It is a very ancient and labor-intensive process that results in a premium velvety, round, rich sake. This style makes a perfect pairing to fall-weather foods like roasted squash, sautéed mushrooms, even the Thanksgiving centerpiece – roast turkey. #110698

Instructor: Courtney Nulicek

Are you ready to take your love of cheese to the next level? Cows, Goats and Sheep, Oh My!

Tuesday, November 15

Instructor: Courtney Nulicek

A cheese is only as good as the milk it is made from, and using milk from different animals produces remarkably different cheeses. Our taste buds and bodies react differently, too. Come learn through tasting the uniqueness of each milk and the answers to questions like: What's the fourth milk often used for cheesemaking? Why are goat and sheep milk cheeses a different color from cow's milk cheeses? What's the truth about lactose? What's your favorite milk?. $40 per person.
