2014 Joseph Carr Cabernet Sauvignon 'Paso Robles'

(Paso Robles, California)

Paso Robles is an AVA in the Central Coast of California that has enjoyed an explosion in popularity over the last 5 years. Located along the Pacific Ocean and south of Monterey, this arid, extremely hot region is a land of contrasts in that the daytime to nighttime temperature variation can be up to 50 degrees Fahrenheit! Joseph Carr recognized the potential in Paso Robles to complement his family owned winery's focus on making wines of balance, sophistication, and approachability. His background as a world class sommelier and his love of Bordeaux wines led him to hire Aaron Pott as his winemaker, whose storied career includes winemaking roles in both Bordeaux and Burgundy. For the Joseph Carr 2014 Paso Robles Cabernet Sauvignon, they chose to use 100% Cabernet Sauvignon grapes, and aged the wine for 18 months in French oak (40% new). The wine shows aromas and flavors of dark black fruits, baking spices, chocolate, licorice, as well as blueberry fruit. Lush silky tannins are followed by firm acidity that provides a solid structure to the wine, which leads to wonderfully rich black fruit on the long finish. This wine can complement ribs, steak, or even work on its own. Come and try this wine and see what all the fuss is regarding wines from Paso Robles; I can guarantee that you will be buying more to always have on hand. Cheers! #110525

2013 Powers Winery 'Champoux Vineyard' Cabernet Sauvignon

(Horse Heaven Hills, Washington)

Powers Winery is the product of Bill Powers' work farming grapes in eastern Washington's various wine regions and son Greg Powers' continued work in the vineyards and at the winery. This wine is one of the four single vineyard Cabernet Sauvignon bottlings Powers Winery does. Each reserve bottling highlights the distinctive flavor profiles the Cabernet grape exhibits in Washington State's varied wine regions. Champoux (pronounced: Shampoo) Vineyard is located in the famous Horse Heaven Hills in the Columbia River Valley. Warm days and cool nights allow the development of light and dark fruit flavors and wide array of infused spice elements. Oak is a partner rather than a dominant force in this beautifully detailed wine. This is sufficiently aged for current enjoyment and balanced enough to continue developing for many years. Mickey Dunne from Powers Winery will be in the store October 13th and 14th pouring this and others wines from their portfolio. Be sure to stop in. #104523

2014 Chateau Mongravey Margaux

(Bordeaux, France)

Bill McCleary

The most famous and historical French wine region is Bordeaux. Many find this region to be difficult to navigate, yet we are drawn to it because of its global popularity. Simply put, we may just want to drink and appreciate it. I'm a big fan and here's a marvelous starting point. Chateau Mongravey is a superb taste of excellent Bordeaux red. It's certainly not an inexpensive wine, but it will introduce you to a solid Bordeaux taste. This wine is from the Left Bank appellation of Margaux, known for its unique gravel and sandy soil near the Gironde River. Margaux wines are known for haunting perfume, silky texture, and concentrated flavors. Our 2014 Mongravey has it all. 30 year old vines provide much of the mature vitality of this wine. Left Bank Bordeaux has traditionally been dominated by Cabernet Sauvignon, and this wine offers the dense structure of 75% Cabernet, plus some spice and fruitiness of Merlot (23%), plus a dab of style with Cabernet Franc. French oak aging (55% new) finishes our wine with some tannin and cedar accents. Decanter Magazine highly rates this 2014 Mongravey. Long time importer and supplier Jean-Christophe Calvet will be here on October 6 and 7. Many of you already know him over the 12 years he has visited our store. Plan to stop by to taste, visit, as well as purchase this fine Bordeaux - Chateau Mongravey is worth it for the delicious experience. #23958

2013 Zenato 'Alanera' Rosso Veronese

(Veneto, Italy)

I happily move from season to season here in Minnesota, but fall holds a special place in my heart. From the smell of fireplaces, to geese fly-overs, to the excuse to revisit red wines that have taken a back seat to the white wine and gin & tonic days of summer, fall simply suits me. I came across Zenato's Alanera bottling a few years back when I was trying to break out of a rut that found me heavily in the new world. I knew at first sip that this could quite possibly put me into another rut of drinking only wines from the Veneto region. Valpolicella is widely known, and Amarone is king in these parts of northeast Italy. While this isn't from either exact region, it does take both varietal and methodical cues from each. Start with the wine's blend of classic regional grapes Corvina, Rondinella, and Corvinone along with small amounts of Merlot and Cabernet Sauvignon. Then apply the appassimento process (used to make Amarone and Ripasso wines) of drying a portion of these grapes, in this case 50%, before extracting juice. The result is a gloriously decadent wine filled with notes of cherry, both dried and ripe, plum, espresso, and mint. Drinking this is a luxurious experience. It coats your mouth, lingers on the finish, and makes you quite happy to settle in on a cool night with a glass or two of this old world red. #109077

STAFF SELECTIONS

2014 Carpineta Fontalpino Chianti Classico

(Tuscany, Italy)

To me, this wine simply screams Sangiovese. Ruby red and medium bodied, this 90% Sangiovese stunner sings with minerally bright acidity and a firm tannic posture. Aromas of red cherry, tobacco, and violet are lifted by a whiff of mint and balanced by the quintessential note of dusky earth. Vibrant flavors of red currant and gun flint lead to a long spiced-cherry finish. This bottling delivers everything a traditional Chianti Classico should, with flair. This all-estate sourced wine would favor pan seared pork, roasted veggies, or any of your red sauce based Italian favorites. Expect it to soften slightly with age and drink great for the next 5-7 years. #111547

2015 Mas de Boislauzon Cotes-du-Rhone Villages

(Rhône Valley, France)

Drew Fuller

Southern France is one of my favorite travel destinations, and while I can't get there often, I can enjoy a glass of wine from one of the many wine appellations throughout the region, such as Provence, Cotes du Roussillon, Vacqueyras, and Chateauneuf du Pape, to name just a few. One of the regions whose wines I find offer great value is the Cotes du Rhone Villages, a French wine Appellation d'Origine Controlee (AOC) in southern France. It is made up from a list of villages around the region whose wines meet the quality criteria for this appellation. The wines are superior to the generic Cotes du Rhone AOC but below that of famous regions like Chateauneuf du Pape. The Mas de Boislauzon winery is located just north of Avignon and is currently owned by 5th generation vignerons Chrissy and Daniel Chaussy, where they organically farm 37 acres of vineyards in the Cotes du Rhone Villages AOC, and 22 acres in Chateauneuf du Pape. I tasted their 2015 Cotes du Rhone Villages recently, and rediscovered many of the reasons I love wines from this region. It is made up of 70% Grenache, 20% Mourvedre, and 10% Syrah and spends 12 months in oak barrels. It displays aromas and flavors of rich black fruits, spicy black pepper, licorice, dried herbs and subtle earthy notes. Bright up front acidity keeps things interesting, with fine grained tannins providing structure to the wine and leading to a full bodied, almost chewy texture at the finish. At roughly $12, this wine is an absolute steal considering the number of adjectives I needed to use to describe it!! Perfect with roast lamb, cassoulet, and earthy cheeses. Sante! #15563

2015 Cave de Saumur Blanc 'Lieu dit Les Epinats'

(Loire Valley, France)

Noelle Starr

Even though fall is in the air and temperatures will certainly drop, there is no reason to completely abandon white wine. Which is good news considering the 2015 vintage of one of our staff's most beloved French whites has just arrived. This 100% Chenin Blanc has an interesting story. While Saumur is an actual AVA in the Loire, this is also the name of the cooperative which makes the wine. What began with winemaking families of the region banding together in response to difficult economic times back in 1957 has over the years developed into a sought-after label for value-conscious lovers of single vineyard sourced Chenin. The "Lieu-dit Les Epinats" vineyard is an incredibly small 6 acre property. The soil is a combination of flint, clay, and limestone – important because that combination produces Chenin Blanc with incredible minerality. This is crisp, high-toned, and incredibly pretty. Notes of lime oil, lemongrass, slate, and green apple will show best if the wine isn't over-chilled. A perfect white for fall dishes such as butternut squash soup or classic roast chicken. #21592

Schnebelhorn

The Swiss Reto Güntensperger is responsible for this creation, which sources its milk from cows living in the higher altitude regions of Switzerland, and is aptly named for the mountains in the region. Somewhat similar to its predecessor Appenzeller, Schnebelhorn is grassy, nutty, and pleasantly pungent. One sample of this cheese will have those agree: this Appenzeller variation really hits all of the right Alpine-style cheese marks.

2014 Enrique Mendoza 'La Tremenda' Monastrell

(Alicante, Spain)

Spain just continues to deliver some of the world's greatest wine values. This particular bottling hails from Alicante which, if you aren't super up on your Spanish geography (and don't worry, I'm pretty familiar with the map, but still had to look this one up), is on the Mediterranean coast between Valencia and Cartagena. It is a hot and arid region less than 200 miles from Oran in Algeria. It is commonly said that the best wines are made from vines that suffer, and here, in Alicante, they most certainly suffer. I can't claim that THIS is why the wine in this bottle is great, but I CAN tell you that this is really great stuff. La Tremenda is the name of the vineyard, Monastrell is the grape (also known as Mourvedre or Mataro), and this bottling is entirely sourced from the one vineyard, and the one grape variety. It is medium-full bodied, virtually opaque purple, and surprisingly aromatic and light on its toes for a varietal that often yields heavy, full-bodied reds. On the palate, the first and primary impression is one of soft fruit, followed by bright flavors of black raspberries and plum, turning darker as the wine fades into its finish. The flavor 'fingerprint' (if you will) of Monastrell comes across to me as a prominent seam of a dark, almost black flavor, like a black truffle soy sauce kind of note. We see this note on the flavor profile of this wine, but it serves as the foundation of the wine, the baseline so to speak, while the soft, fresh, palate-refreshing fruitiness drives the melody. Well-made Monastrell captivates with this contrast of freshness and darkness, and in a wine so affordable as this one, I find it utterly irresistible.

2016 La Val Albarino

(Rias Baixas, Spain)

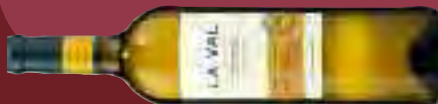

The Rias Baixas region near the Atlantic Ocean has long grown grapes that seemed custom made for pairing with seafood, but until 30 or so years ago the focus on first-class wines was largely missing. Bodegas La Val was founded in 1985 and quickly became involved in improved farming as well as wine-making technique and technology. The Albarino grape, for the most part, is found only in this part of the world and it clearly deserves the attention of savvy wine drinkers. Showing body and acidity similar to the best Sauvignon Blanc, it differs by showing citrus flavors more reminiscent of orange peel and nectarines. These flavors not only pair splendidly with seafood, but also with savory and smoky flavors. Grilled prawns, prosciutto-wrapped melon, or, the Spanish classic – Paella. #106580

Marieke Aged Gouda

Cheese maker Marieke Penterman in Thorpe, Wisconsin ages this year plus old Aged Gouda specially for Surdyk's. It's made from raw cow's milk using traditional Dutch methods and equipment that she and her family brought with when they emigrated to the U.S. in 2002. Their artisan Goudas are by far the best we have ever tasted. Sweet and nutty, with a butterscotch finish. This cheese is a true delight!

The entire winemaking operation at Cline, from vineyard to winery, is one of California's most environmentally conscious. Although Cline's wines are not "certified organic", they follow organic principles in the vineyards that are more strict than many of the certification standards; and in the winery, they have recently converted to solar power and now sell energy back to their former provider. All of this shows in their wines, which are among the purest expressions of their varieties that we know!

STAFF SELECTIONS

2016 Nigl Gruner Veltliner 'Freiheit'

(Kremstal, Austria)

Nigl's Freiheit is sourced from 4 different vineyards in the hills above the city of Krems, Austria. The soils here are primarily löss and the temperature is moderated by the valley's steep slopes and high elevation. The name Freiheit means "freedom" and stems from the belief that this area was the first vineyard land in the Kremstal valley not controlled by the Church or a feudal estate. This wine is a textural sensation. Don't get me wrong - the flavors are great and well defined - lime, wet stones, green bean, and white pepper with an intriguing yeasty-brioche finish. But it's really how this wine delivers those flavors that makes it a real gem. It's crisp and fresh, with a slight sparkle on your tongue's tip. Then smooth on the palate and weighty on the finish. To find such distinct sensations all curled up in one "entry level" Gruner was a real treat. This wine is very versatile in pairings. Things as far flung as spicy Asian or your turkey day dinner would be well accompanied by this. #21022

PAIRS WELL WITH

Harbison

Harbison is a unique cheese fashioned after Vacherin Mont d'Or, but instead of washing the rind, they made the rind bloomy, like a Brie. This reduces the pungency and allows the cheese to express the essence of the wooded Vermont hills where it is made. The taste is layered. The cream is subtly sweet with woody, earthy notes that hint at mustard greens and caramelized onions.

2012 High Valley Vineyards Barbera

(Lake County, California)

Everyone beats a path to northern Italy for the world's finest Barbera. You can also find fabulous Barbera in California, as Surdyk's has done with High Valley's excellent version. Our customers return again and again. North of Napa Valley lies Lake County where High Valley has well-located vineyards that take advantage of coastal elevations and cool breezes from nearby deep, cold lakes. Red volcanic rock and soil works to make this wine intense with dense flavors. Climate and vineyard conditions are similar to the Piedmont region of Italy, where the best Barbera is made. Flavor complexity runs from cherry to strawberry to red currant. Light herbal spice and sweet vanilla from 18 months of oak aging is right there in the finishing taste. The Barbera's acidity is solid and makes this wine really well paired with savory foods. Here's Italian red wine taste...styled and made in America!

PAIRS WELL WITH Big Woods Blue

Full disclosure, I've always had a soft spot for the family affair that is Shepherd's Way cheeses. They are made by Steven Read and Jodi Olhson Read who, along with their sons, have been raising dairy ewes and making cheese on their farm just outside of Northfield, MN for the past 12 years. A lot of love and care goes into what they make and you can see that in Big Woods Blue, one of their signature cheeses. It is a very balanced sheep's milk blue that is more delicate than a Roquefort but will catch your attention with its rich meatiness and sweet tangy flavors. This blue is perfect eaten by itself or melted on top of a steak or burger for those grilling during these last warm weeks of fall.

Portell Cava Brut

(Tarragona, Spain)

Lately I've been gravitating more and more to the sparkling wines of the world. In part because it is a category that I have neglected somewhat over the years in my pursuit of other vinous interests. Also, I'm drawn by many of the surprisingly affordable offerings from Spain that have turned out to be really lovely. We have many new Cavas (which simply denotes a Spanish sparkling wine made in the traditional, bottle-fermented method) and they surprised me with their bright fruit and lively flavors. This particular Cava was brought to us as a side project of one of our wholesale suppliers, and I frankly figured it was a private label without a real story behind it. We loved the wine so we took the chance, brought it in, and customers were immediately drawn to it. Possibly the handsome, modern packaging had something to do with that, but it turns out that the wine is even better than we thought. The bright fruit and snappy acids make this a complete winner at home as well as on our tasting bench. And, we learned later, that it comes from a historical but small winery just outside of Penedes (ground-zero for Spain's greatest Cavas), in a small town technically in Tarragona, just outside Barcelona. We knew we were on to a good thing when we brought this in, but now that we've had it here for a while, grown to know it, taken a few bottles home, it has very quickly become our go-to Cava. I recognize that this isn't the typical way to sell a wine, but I ask you to take the chance, like we did, bring a bottle home, get to know it. I'm pretty sure you'll end up being more than pleasantly surprised. #111570

Ichishima Tokubetsu Honjozo (300ml)

(Niigata, Japan)

This gold medal winning honjozo sake is one of the most popular brews produced in the famous brewing prefecture of Niigata. After you try it, you will know why. Its clean, rich, yet dry body is something very unique and very drinkable. Niigata is a famous region for brewing the finest sake in the world. The prefecture is located on the west coast of Japan's Honshu Island, bordering the Sea of Japan. There is an average of over 30 feet of snowfall in the region per year and this snow is the secret to brewing great sake. The snow keeps everything clean and pure, including producing great water – the main ingredient in brewing great sake. A light entry of earthy dried fruit and cooked rice, followed by a hint of richness and cream, makes for a fall favorite. Try this food-friendly sake with a warm clam chowder or mushroom risotto this season. At this great price, you may want to stock up! #108157

Cheese Shop Specials

Parmigiano Reggiano

Reg. $18.99/lb sale $12.99/lb

From the Emilia-Romagna region of Italy, and aged a minimum of two years, Parmigiano-Reggiano has a piquant, complex, fruity, nutty, savory flavor we often identify as umami. Widely regarded as one of the world's greatest cheeses, we love to eat it out of hand with salami, prosciutto, good bread, and wine.

Delice de Bourgogne

Reg. $16.99/lb sale $12.99/lb

This is a triple cream (75% butterfat) cheese with a soft, white bloomy rind, decadently rich and buttery with a just a hint of tanginess. Excellent with sparkling wines, fresh berries, honey, and almonds.

Vintage 5 Year

Reg. $19.99/lb sale $16.99/lb

This rare, 5 year old Gouda is intense and complex with a rich nutty flavor and subtle sweetness reminiscent of smoky butter-scotch. The color is deep amber to burnt orange with a flaky texture and crunchy crystals; our new favorite aged Gouda!

Cottonseed

Reg. $26.99/lb sale $19.99/lb

A delicate, snowy rind yields to a creamy, gooey center with notes of earth and truffle in this mixed milk masterpiece. Cottonseed is their most sensitive cheese, requiring precision and craftsmanship, but ultimately Cottonseed rewards us all with its luxurious, full-bodied flavors.

Roquefort Carles

Reg. $33.99/lb sale $26.99/lb

Producing just 1 percent of all Roquefort, the small Carles Company is committed to tradition. Carles Roquefort is made entirely by hand, and maturation is never rushed. Soft and creamy in texture, Carles displays the powerful and spicy flavors of the Roquefort molds.

Ossau-Iraty

Reg. $20.99/lb sale $16.99/lb

This is a classic sheep's milk cheese made in the French Pyrenees from the milk of the Manech and Basco-Bearnaise ewes. This AOC cheese, from a recipe that is over four thousand years old, is aged for a minimum of 90 days. The aroma is reminiscent of toasted hazelnuts while the taste is sweet and buttery.

Montgomery's Cheddar

Reg. $28.99/lb sale $22.99/lb

Made from the raw milk of Friesian-Holstein cows, Montgomery's cheddar is still made by hand using an old world cheddar-ing process in the legendary land of King Arthur. Note the rich buttery flavor, with grassy, beefy notes. Pairs wonderfully with stout, full flavored ales, and bold Cabernets.

Willoughby

Reg. $26.99/lb sale $19.99/lb

Willoughby is a delicious soft-ripened cheese from Jasper Hill Farms in Vermont. This is a washed rind, cow's milk cheese that is oozy and pungent, with notes of smoky beef and fresh cream, unctuous and fragrant – a must try!

Salumi at our Cheese Shop

To celebrate the arrival of fall, we'll be featuring our selection of salumi throughout the sale. Part of what makes our shop so special is our manual Berkel slicer, operated by turning a fly wheel. It turns out the thinnest possible slices, and unlike an electric slicer, won't heat the meat as it's sliced, ensuring the perfect piece of Prosciutto.

Stop by the shop to have a taste or two and learn the difference between Jamon Iberico and Serrano or between the Prosciutto di Parma and the Americana. A plate of cured meats is an easy and delicious way to entertain. We also have the perfect accompaniments – cornichon, olives, mustard, and of course, cheese.

We have a large variety of delicious salumi from artisan producers such as:

- Red Table
- La Quercia
- Olympia
- Smoking Goose
- Fra' Mani
- Fermin
- Columbus
- Benton's
- Nduja Artisans
