Wine

CLINE

The entire winemaking operation at Cline, from vineyard to winery, is one of California's most environmentally conscious. Although Cline's wines are not "certified organic", they follow organic principles in the vineyards that are more strict than many of the certification standards; and in the winery, they have recently converted to solar power and now sell energy back to their former provider. All of this shows in their wines, which are among the purest expressions of their varieties that we know!

STAFF SELECTIONS

2015 Duboeuf Julienas "Chateau des Capitans"

(Beaujolais, France)

Sometimes I like to turn my wine-drinking into little projects, like when I basically drank my way through Spain a few years back... ahem. So this fall I decided I would touch base with Beaujolais again and see if the wines from this part of France had continued to develop, or were maybe struggling with vintages and so forth. What I found was remarkable. The wine-making is fantastic, and the wines, although they now sell at price points more like $15-$25 rather than $8-$15 of years back, are most definitely worth checking out. The wines from 2013 and 2014 were better than expected, but this bottling, a recent arrival from the much heralded 2015 vintage, was just fantastic, and maybe the best of the bunch. Julienas is one of Beaujolais' so-called "cru" appellations that form the core of the greater Beaujolais region. It is perfectly measured in the tricky balancing act between fruit, acids, and tannins. The depth of fruit here is notable, and the sheer vinous gratification is the best part. By the time you get to your last sip, all you want is to open another bottle (not always a good idea, but...). I have to say, I consider this a triumph of high-quality wine-making at a fair price. Check it out here while you can. We were able to score the only allocation for MN, and when it is gone, it is gone. #97926

You must try Vulto Creamery's Ouleout, made by artist turned cheesemaker, Jos Vulto. Made from raw jersey cow's milk, these wheels practically glow with rich orange rinds and bright yellow, buttery paste inside – beautiful indeed. When I taste Ouleout I am reminded of a walk in springtime during the thaw: earthiness gives way to beautiful bright floral notes and hints of sweet pea.

STAFF SELECTIONS

2014 Rodney Strong "Knight's Valley" Cabernet Sauvignon

(Sonoma, California)

I am a big fan of the concept that a wine should accurately reflect where the grapes were grown, a concept the French refer to as terroir. The wine staff at Surdyk's is tasked with tasting many wines from different parts of the world (I know; tough job, right?) in order to highlight great examples from each region. It is fun to find wines that perfectly showcase where they are from. Recently we tasted this Rodney Strong Cabernet Sauvignon, made from vineyards in the Knights Valley district of Sonoma County, California. This is a fantastic example of old school California Cabernet with big, lush fruit balanced by toasty vanilla. The Knights Valley is the easternmost Sonoma County appellation and is the warmest viticultural region in the county, with mineral-rich volcanic soil. The wine is composed of 93% Cabernet Sauvignon and 7% Malbec, which is aged for 18 months in French oak barrels, 50% new. Intensely dark color, with soaring aromas of blackberry, cassis, toasty vanilla, and dried herbs. "WOW" is the highly technical wine term that I wrote down first. This shows complex layers of spice, chocolate, and blackberries that are backed by rich, silky tannins and a never ending finish. "Enjoy this beautiful wine with roasted leg of lamb or a porterhouse steak. #111350

PAIRS WELL WITH

Bayley Hazen

To be honest, I was not a fan of blue cheese when I began working in the cheese shop, but the Bayley Hazen blue won me over. This treat from Jasper Hill Farm in Vermont carries subtle smoky notes and strong nut-like sweetness. The raw milk truly shines in this cheese, giving it more grassy notes than its more peppery counterparts.

STAFF SELECTIONS

2014 Gravel Bar "Alluvial Red"

(Columbia Valley, Washington)

Drew Fuller

As a wine consultant at Surdyk's, I am often asked "what is the best value wine in the store," as most people are looking for a $12-$15 wine with complex flavors and a full-bodied structure that they normally find in their favorite wines that cost $20 and up. I often recommend Marietta Old Vine Red, as that wine has been a perennial staff and customer favorite for years, but we recently added another red blend that I can add to my 'excellent value' list, Gravel Bar 2014 Alluvial Red Wine Blend from Columbia Valley in Washington. The deep soils in this arid region were formed by floodwaters from melting ice-age glaciers, creating sandy, rocky, alluvial soils that are perfect for growing grapes with complex flavors. The blend for this wine is 35% Cabernet Sauvignon, 30% Merlot, 15% Cabernet Franc, 10% Malbec, and 10% Petit Verdot. It immediately shows dark, rich cherry and cassis fruit with spice notes of clove, vanilla, and chocolate. It is full-bodied with bold tannins framing the long finish. Perfect with beef or lamb stew, grilled ribeye steak with blue cheese, or pasta Bolognese. Stock up on this great value red, as I am sure that you will find yourself reaching for this wine in your wine rack again and again. Cheers! #108649

2014 Chateau Langlet Blanc (Graves, France)

Roger Clark

Chateau Langlet has existed in France's Graves region since at least 1868. This area in Bordeaux has, as the name suggests, very gravelly soils and is home to many of the area's finest white wines. The Kressmann family purchased the property in 1999 and immediately put many of the finest wine minds to work maximizing the quality of the wine from the already existing vineyards. Made from 100% Sauvignon Blanc, the grapes are very lightly crushed and slowly fermented at cool temperatures, preserving fruit aromas and flavors. A brief period of time in mostly old oak barrels gives the wine an added textural note without adding typical oak flavors. In a world full of white wines that need to be consumed quickly, this will likely age another 3-5 years very gracefully. Pasta with spring vegetables or grilled halibut would be tasty partners. (6 per case). #14512

PAIRS WELL WITH Casatica di Bufala

The Gritti brothers in Italy have taken water buffalo milk cheese to new heights. Water buffalo milk is much richer and fattier than cow's milk and this is reflected in the soft-ripened, bloomy rind cheese. The cheese is incredibly rich and creamy with a slight tang not found outside of buffalo milk cheese. All in all, Casatica di Bufala is a delicious and unique experience not to be missed!

2015 Lucchetti Lacrima di Morro d'Alba

(Marche, Italy)

Bill McCleary

Over the years, Surdyk's has bonded into good friendships with winemakers through their wine business. One of those associations is with the families of Mario and Paolo Lucchetti from Le Marche, Italy. The Lucchetti's grow Lacrima grapes and make a delicious red wine from this local varietal. The mature grapes sweat droplets of juice, which resembles tears (Lacrima in Italian). The Lacrima di Morro d'Alba appellation is close to the Adriatic Sea, with its cooling breezes. These folks go back generations with winemaking experience and talent. Deep ruby in color, this dry red offers a heady bouquet of violet flowers and wild strawberries. Ripe mulberry and pomegranate fruit notes provide fresh, vivid flavors. Limited tannin is soft, allowing for a smooth, ready-to-drink texture. A rich, red, Italian wine well-made and bargain priced during our Spring Sale!

(Minervois, France)

French wines can be tricky. Price, bottle age, and personal expectation all play into what often becomes either a disappointing wine experience or a great one that costs so much that your budget won't allow you to repeat it. But once in a while you find a gem. The Domaine du Somail "Le Vin de Plume" from Minervois was part of a recent staff tasting we conducted of French wines to consider for our shelves. This was a revelation. Made from mostly Mourvedre with some Syrah blended in, the nose presented every berry I could think of, followed by flecks of tar and earth. I kept writing "old world" over and over in my notes. The palate was dark. Black fruit, black licorice, black olive with an intensity that started the minute it hit my tongue and lasted all the way through the finish. Tempering all of this darkness was a specific, defined prettiness that made this wine one of my favorites in recent memory. #11348

PAIRS WELL WITH

Fourme d'Ambert

Dating back to the 8th and 9th centuries, the recipe for Fourme d'Ambert has outlasted feudalism. It's a cow's milk truckle from the Auvergne region of France that satisfies so many avenues of flavor and texture. It will crumble slightly when cold, but melt instantly on the palate. It isn't "too" anything, yet is by no means boring. Nutty, woody, and tangy, this is a beautiful cheese. It's a good blue to keep in your kitchen, lending itself effortlessly to a sauce, or on a cheese plate with pears and walnuts.

STAFF SELECTIONS

2013 Jose Maria da Fonseca "Ripanco"

(Alentejo, Portugal)

Roger Clark

The Fonseca family has been in the wine business long enough to have wine-making projects in many parts of Portugal. Ripanco comes from Alentejo in the southern half of the country. Noted for its warm vineyard sites, this wine is made from 48% Syrah, 32% Aragonez (Tempranillo), and Alicante Bouschet. While Syrah is French in origin, it thrives in warm climates and along with the other two varietals provides a wine that combines rich dark and red fruit with beautifully infused spice notes. I love the fact that the wine isn't really like anything else, but is still so easy to drink, easy to like, and easy to pair. Grilled meat would be an obvious pairing, but almost any cured sausage, and/or flavorful aged cheese would make for satisfying snacking. (6 per case). #110530

2014 Portlandia Pinot Noir

(Oregon)

Given the popularity of Pinot Noir, it's always exciting to have a new Pinot arrive at Surdyk's. Portlandia is a recent arrival from Oregon. Let me introduce you to it. Damian Davis, vintner of Portlandia, was at Surdyk's a few weeks back and I had a moment to taste this Pinot and talk to him about the dynamic wine he has produced. This is 100% Pinot Noir, 100% Oregon, and 95% Willamette Valley fruit. In your glass, this is red wine full of big flavors and robust texture. Ripe, red cherry and juicy plum are hard to miss. Some Oregon signature earthiness offers spiciness, dried forest mushrooms, and briary wood smoke. Tannins are likable and acidity is well-balanced. Here's Pinot Noir to charm you and presents a really delicious taste for lots of foods. Find it in aisle 6! #110513

2012 Greywacke Pinot Noir

(Marlborough, New Zealand)

Newsflash! New Zealand has more to offer than Sauvignon Blanc! Those same porous, loamy soils that have made Marlborough synonymous worldwide with Sauvignon Blanc have tricks to teach us for Chardonnay, Pinot Gris, Riesling and most exceptionally, Pinot Noir. Getting acquainted with them will expand the options available to the Pinot-lovers out there, especially those who are drawn to the style of Oregon Pinots. This is a great example of what New Zealand has to offer. A highly fragrant Pinot with cinnamon and clove spiciness and a hint of cedar-like smoke. The palate is dense and generous with ripe cherry-plum richness, some licorice and clove, and a fine but round tannin structure. Wild yeast fermentation gives the wine a sultry, earthy funkiness. The flavors seem very separate but combine nicely on the finish. This may stem from the care taken to ferment and mature separately the 5 different clones used to make this vintage. Pair with pork, salmon, lamb, chicken or turkey – this Pinot has the depth to fit with all but the heaviest of meals. With this discount, expanding your Pinot horizons has rarely been easier. #108759

2014 J. Bouchon
"Canto Sur"(Maule Valley, Chile)

The popularity of red blends continues to climb. Easy to drink and easy to pair with food – so it's easy to see why. This Chilean blend of Carmenere, Carignan, and Pais offers all of that, plus a little more. While the first two varietals have French ancestry, the third, Pais (also known as Mission) is rather unknown to those outside of Chile's Maule Valley. It is thought to have come from Spanish settlers back in the 16th century and was once a major grape of the region. In recent years, Pais has been pushed aside. Literally. The Bouchon family sources this grape from the forest next to their vineyards, where it grows wild up the trees. It is never pruned or treated in any way until harvest, which must be done using tall ladders to reach the fruit. The vines average 120 years in age, and its contribution to the full bodied, dark fruit and spice qualities of Carmenere and Carignan is dried cherry and floral notes, helping to add a beam of brightness to this lovely, unique wine. If you are a fan of blends, this should be in your cart. #110821

2015 Müller-Catoir Riesling 'Feinherb'

(Pfalz, Germany)

Jim Larson

This is special juice. The Müller-Catoir winery has been a family-owned business since 1744, and is now in its ninth generation. All work in the vineyards is done by hand, followed by the selective harvesting by hand, cold and slow fermentation, careful maturing in the cellar and, finally, waiting as long as possible for the bottling process. That's how their wines, made 100% from the harvest of their own vineyards, are crafted into such a distinctive style. Every Müller-Catoir I've ever tasted has been highly refined, highly mineral, extremely elegant – nuanced fruit with a racy, energetic acidity. Every single wine they make seems to buzz your tongue awake, yet leave the mouth feeling refreshed and silky. This estate bottling (i.e. a blend of their own vineyard sites) is a tremendous value for a wine with such pedigree. It bursts with bright minerality, then leads to a starfruit and quince expression mid-palate before offering a slight gassiness on the dry finish. Pair with spicy dishes, or save for a hot day on the deck. This would also be a lovely aperitif or brunch wine. Most wines play one or two notes really well, but this wine is a melody with harmonious resolution. We are lucky to have it. #100741

PAIRS WELL WITH

Adelegger

Adelegger hails from Isny im Allgäu in the Bavarian Alps. For the past 15 years, a small cooperative of seven farmers has provided all the organic milk for master cheese maker Evelyn Wild to make this fantastic Alpine cheese.

Christian Petty

Adelegger is dense, almost fudgy, with a nutty, piquant flavor that melts into flavors of pineapple, brown butter, and beef broth. This is by far one of the most expressive cheeses we have tried and one of the only two German artisan cheeses we carry.

Across the range of their wines, they make wonderful, approachable, everyday wines that show beautiful varietal character.

www.surdyks.com, by phone

Introduction to Wine

Tuesday, March 28 Instructor: Bill McCleary

The original Surdyk's Wine Class! Our introduction class is an unimposing environment perfect for novice wine lovers who would like to polish their palates and gain some useful knowledge. We'll show you where to begin by tasting the major wine varietals, share some useful tips on how to properly taste and serve wine, and supply you with enough basic know-how to begin exploring the vast and rewarding world of wine on your own. $40 per person.

Wines for the Barbecue

Monday, April 3 Instructor: Drew Fuller

When you think of grilling, do you think of beer? Just because you're cooking outside doesn't mean it's time to put away the wine. Drew will show you how easy it is to find wines that can elevate your barbecue to the next level. From easy-drinking, jammy wines perfect for burgers, to bold and complex wines dominated by Cabernet Sauvignon that beg for a grilled ribeye steak. Minnesotans are ready to clear the snow off the patio and get back to the grill. $40 per person.

All classes held at: Ginger Hop - 201 East Hennepin Avenue - Minneapolis, MN 55414

*All classes are non-refundable. We make no exceptions to this policy; much like purchasing a ticket to a cultural or sporting event. We encourage you to send someone in your place if you are unable to attend a class. Those classes with insufficient enrollment will be canceled prior to their starting date. Therefore, early enrollment is desirable. If Surdyk's cancels a class, registered attendees will be notified by phone and they can then elect to take another class (of the same value) from the current schedule or be fully refunded. We reserve the right to cancel or modify classes and menus. If we cancel a class due to inclement weather, we will notify you as soon as that decision is made and fully refund your registration; but if we hold a class, there will be no refunds due to the weather.

Wines of Portugal

Tuesday, April 4 Instructor: Roger Clark

Often too simply grouped with its Iberian Peninsula neighbor of Spain, Portugal has its own unique and centuries-old grapes, styles, and production methods. Join us as we explore a range of wines from zesty Vinho Verde to rich, sweet Port and several things in between. $40 per person.

Wine & Cheese Pairing: Do's and Don'ts

Monday, April 10

Instructors: Courtney Nulicek & Noelle Starr

Wine and cheese – the perfect pair, right? Not so fast. It takes a little more for a successful pairing than simply unwrapping a wedge and popping a cork. Spend an evening with cheese monger Courtney and wine consultant Noelle learning what works (and what doesn't) as we sample a wide range of cheeses next to wines in every imaginable style. You'll be a pairing pro before the night is over! $45 per person.

Cheese Shop Spring Sale Features

There are so many great reasons these days to celebrate our Midwest food roots, including that many of our local producers are also award winners. Red Table Meats won three more Good Food Awards this year for their hand crafted salami and cured meats. Red Table Speck ham, Coppa, and Big Chet's all won glowing reviews from a very discerning group of judges. Andy Hatch won yet another coveted Good Food Award for his Pleasant Ridge Reserve cheese. Past winners have included La Quercia from Iowa, Bent River Camembert from Alemar Cheese in Mankato, MN, and Mayana Chocolates, from Spooner, Wisconsin. The Good Food Awards have been around since just 2012, and they strive to promote good food production in the USA.

CRITERIA OF THE GOOD FOOD AWARDS:

We believe Good Food is made with real ingredients, local wherever possible, and respect amongst the people whose work goes into creating it. Good Food is made with good animal husbandry and without the use of artificial ingredients, hormones, synthetic pesticides, herbicides, fertilizer or genetically modified ingredients.

We sell all of these Good Food Awards products in the cheese shop, plus many more from other areas of the U.S. Check them out!

Parmigiano Reggiano

Reg. $18.99/lb sale $13.99/lb

From the Emilia-Romagna region of Italy, and aged a minimum of two years, Parmigiano-Reggiano has a piquant, complex, fruity, nutty, savory flavor we often identify as umami. Widely regarded as one of the world's greatest cheeses, we love to eat it out of hand with salami, prosciutto, good bread, and wine.

Marieke Aged Gouda

Reg. $19.99/lb sale $16.99/lb

From cheese maker Marieke Penterman in Thorpe, Wisconsin. Aged just for Surdyk's, this 2 ½ years plus aged gouda is one of our best-selling, local farmstead cheeses. Sweet and nutty, with a butterscotch finish.

Campo

Reg. $26.99/lb sale $19.99/lb

Boxcar Cheese Handmade Cheese from Cedar Grove, NC named this cheese Campo not only because the word means "field" in Italian, but also because it conjures the sensory experience of a campfire gathering. After weeks of washing the rind with Piedmontese birra, it finally forms a uniformly buttery exterior that looks like a clean river stone, and then it is cold smoked. Like a beautiful love-child of Taleggio and Havarti, this cheese has an ethereal earthiness.

Bent River Camembert

Reg. $22.99/lb sale $19.99/lb

A wonderful, locally made, soft-ripened cheese from Mankato, Minnesota. Each small wheel is handmade using local, organic milk from grass-fed cows. We just love the hint of mushroom in this super creamy camembert!

Lincolnshire Poacher

Reg. $27.99/lb sale $21.99/lb

This award-winning English farmhouse raw cow's milk cheese is made on the 4th generation family-owned farm of Simon and Tim Jones. Theirs is one of the few dairy farms that are almost 100% completely self-sustaining. Using wind turbines and solar panels that supply more power than they can use, they are actually supplying green energy back to the grid. The Poacher is quite a unique cheese, being crossed between the recipes of traditional cheddars and alpine style cheeses. It is densely textured, distinctively fruity and nutty, with a sweet, earthy finish.

Roquefort Gabriel Coulet

Reg. $19.99/lb sale $15.99/lb

The Gabriel Coulet family has made this award-winning and highly lauded Roquefort since 1872! This one, la Petit Cave, is their reserve line – the best of the best. To date, it has 1 Medailles d'argent, and 5 Medailles d'Or at the CGA of Paris. Like all Roquefort, it is made from the raw milk of the Lacaune sheep, inoculated with penicillium roqueforti, and aged in the limestone caves of Roquefort-sur-Soulzon, where Roquefort was created over 3,000 years ago. More refined than other labels, Gabriel Coulet is creamy, intensely sweet, and slightly herbaceous, with a salty mineral finish.

We carry over 70 different chilled, fresh sakes from over a dozen different prefectures in Japan.

STAFF SELECTIONS

Tsukinowa Kinen (Blue Hue) 1.8L

(Shiwa, Japan)

Kinen Honjozo sake is a local favorite in the Iwate prefecture. Its versatility makes it easy to see why. You can serve this chilled or warmed, sipped alone or with a wide variety of foods. The size suggests a gathering and since it appears we all survived winter, I would say that's more than enough reason to have a few friends over. While Blue Hue is a delicious sake to sip, I now know that there is so much more that goes into each bottle. After touring the Tsukinowa brewery, I was struck with a new appreciation for this culture's respect for tradition. Every step of sake making follows a process set generations before. Everything is done by hand. Now, as the father prepares to pass the sake brewery onto his daughter, it wasn't lost on me that this passing of tradition is mirrored in my own life. At the end of our visit, we toasted two families, their businesses, and tradition. 6 per case. #109150

Tsukinowa Brewery – Iwate Prefecture, Japan

Melissa Surdyk was fortunate enough to tour the Tsukinowa brewery in the Iwate Prefecture. President Daizo Yokozawa and his daughter Hiroko (she's one of the few female toji or head brewmasters) were gracious hosts.

Sake has been in production here since 1886!

Sugidama are balls made from cedar and are found throughout Japan. However they have special significance to sake breweries. Tradition is to hang a fresh green sugidama in the fall at the brewery entrance immediately after sake from the new rice harvest has been pressed. In the spring, the sugidama turns completely brown, signifying that the sake is ready to drink!
