

Announcement of Faculty Positions
Assistant Professors, tenure track and non-tenure track
Mandel School of Applied Social Sciences
Case Western Reserve University (Cleveland, Ohio)

The Jack, Joseph and Morton Mandel School of Applied Social Sciences (MSASS), the graduate school of social work at Case Western Reserve University, invites applications for two (2) positions at the rank of Assistant Professor, one on the tenure track, and one on the non-tenure track. We are seeking candidates who can enhance the School's mission of advancing leadership in social work, scholarship, and service. Those with academic experience in culturally diverse populations are encouraged to apply. The specific area of expertise is open, but we are especially interested in candidates in direct practice in behavioral health/mental health/addictions and direct practice in aging/health.

For a century, the Mandel School has had a long tradition of excellence in research, teaching, and service. Ranked #1 in Ohio and #9 nationally among schools of social work, the Mandel School integrates its education, research and service to enable our students to become leaders in social welfare and human services. The city of Cleveland offers a culturally diverse urban environment for applied community based research collaborations. Case Western Reserve University is a private research intensive university with a renowned medical school and nursing school, situated in a vibrant arts and cultural center. Both the University and the Greater Northeast Ohio region offer exceptional opportunities for collaboration in research and service with premier social service and health care organizations.

We encourage those who meet the following criteria to apply for the tenure track position:

Minimum qualifications

- An earned doctorate in social work or other relevant field by the time of appointment
- Demonstrated ability to develop and to conduct a program of research and scholarship that will enhance the missions of the School and the University
- Demonstrated potential to attract funding for their research.
- Has 2 or more years post-master's experience in direct social work practice

Preferred qualifications

- An earned master's degree in social work from a CSWE accredited social work program
- Demonstrated ability and interest in teaching master's students in foundation and advanced direct practice and/or doctoral students
- Interest in qualitative, quantitative, and mixed methods

Persons interested in the tenure track position should submit the following material to mandelsearch@case.edu: (1) a letter of interest, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) a recently published article, preferably as the lead author, (4) a two-page research statement, (5) a two-page teaching philosophy statement, and (6) three letters of reference.

We encourage those who meet the following criteria to apply for the non-tenure track position:

- An earned master's degree in social work from a CSWE accredited social work program
- An earned doctorate in social work or other relevant field by the time of appointment
- Has 2 or more years post-master's experience in direct social work practice
- Demonstrated ability and interest in teaching master's students in foundation and advanced direct practice
- Demonstrated ability and interest in teaching in a variety of formats, both traditional and online

Persons interested in the non-tenure track position should submit the following material to mandelsearch@case.edu: (1) a letter of interest, including recent experiences in teaching (2) curriculum vitae and (3) three letters of reference.

In employment, as in education, Case Western Reserve University is committed to Equal Opportunity and Diversity. Women, veterans, members of underrepresented minority groups, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Case Western Reserve University provides reasonable accommodations to applicants with disabilities. Applicants requiring a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process should contact the Office of Inclusion, Diversity and Equal Opportunity at 216-368-8877 to request a reasonable accommodation. Determinations as to granting reasonable accommodations for any applicant will be made on a case-by-case basis.

To ensure priority consideration, applications must be received by October 10, 2016. Early application is advised. Please be sure to indicate the position you are applying for in your email.
