

Maryland Developmental Disabilities Council Member Brent Debnam recently graduated from Bowie State University with a degree in communications, but he's not finished learning and creating. He's busy planning to launch a podcast for Marylanders with disabilities and learning about emerging media. Brent says that throughout his life, people have had high expectations of him, allowing him to "... accomplish and surpass any goals I have set for myself and have helped me to inspire others to do the same." #ExpectationsMatter #ExpectAbility
