

Calling All Wellness Champions!

Do you know a co-worker or friend that you feel is a good example of health and wellbeing? Maybe this person is an avid exerciser and takes workout classes everyday after work or maybe they walk everyday during their lunch break? Maybe you've noticed someone making a healthy change by starting to pack healthy lunches everyday? Whatever it may be, big or small, those of you who try everyday to make those healthy choices are true role models of health!

Let's celebrate those who take the time to make positive changes to better themselves and their health!
