Families that include a loved one with special needs are presented with unique challenges as they plan for the years ahead. Many questions arise involving how to support their loved one long-term, how to ensure that they receive necessary medical services, how to promote their independence as they become adults, and who will be in charge of their care as their parents age.

Join us as Attorney David S. Banas of Hickman & Lowder Co., L.P.A. guides families through many of the legal and financial planning opportunities available to them—helping them to evaluate their options and create their special needs estate planning tool box.
