

Genealogical research

Explore Your Family Tree with new Genealogy Club

Learning about our ancestors helps us better understand who we are, linking past, present, and future. Bloomfield library now offers a Genealogy Drop-In program on the second Wednesday of each month at 6 p.m. (schedule subject to change). Beginners and experienced researchers alike are welcome to stop by and work with experts from the Family History Center of Caldwell. They have access to the vast FamilySearch catalog. Bloomfield librarians will be standing by to assist with complex genealogical research.

Brush Up Your Money Smarts

Members of the Financial Book Club

support one another while learning to secure their financial futures. Every Tuesday, starting at 6 p.m., they meet to discuss a relevant book selected by the group. They also delve into real estate, the stock market, retirement and education planning, or maybe even smart phone apps that assist stock trading. No financial experience is necessary to join. For details, call the library at (973) 566-6200, x219.

Regularly Scheduled Programs

- Mid-Day Movies - Mondays and Thursdays, 12:15 p.m.
- Library Book Club – Monday, June 5, 6:45 p.m. “The Fifth Petal,” by Brunonia Barry. The suspicious death of a teenager could be tied to an earlier unsolved homicide related to victims of the Salem witch trials. A local historian of murder and witchcraft is suspected. Can Police Chief John Rafferty uncover the truth before history repeats itself? The Fifth Petal is a stand-alone mystery related to Barry’s earlier best-seller, “The Lace Reader.” It features characters and settings from the first book.
- Bridge Club - Fridays at noon. Beginners welcome.
