

SocWk 631: Immersion in Latin America
Pacific University, Oregon

Limited Space Available!! Deadline to register: December 15th

Quetzaltenango (Xela), Guatemala
January 6th to January 20th, 2018

Students will learn first-hand about the underlying issues that force migration into the United States and the impact of this on individuals and families within Guatemala and the U.S.

-PLQ

The Immersion in Latin America course includes:

- 5 hours of individual Spanish language instruction with an emphasis on social work, healthcare, legal, and/or human rights and social justice (depending on student interest)
- Homestay with a local family (room and board)
- Lectures and trips focusing on the historic and contemporary social, economic, political, and cultural aspects of Guatemala

Cost: $1000 per person

Cost INCLUDES homestay with a local family, 5 hours of language instruction per day, volunteer and community service opportunities, in-country transportation to and from Xela from Guatemala City, and honorariums for communities & organizations that we visit

Cost DOES NOT INCLUDE flight to and from Guatemala

If you are interested in participating in this course, please contact:
Michele Eggers @ eggersm@pacificu.edu