

Share the Care™

Share the Care™ is a structure of support for someone in need of care at home. The Coalition supports the community efforts of creating a “caregiver family from friends, real family members, neighbors, coworkers and acquaintances”. This model was created by Sheila Warnock and operates under the National Center for Civic Innovation.

The New York State Caregiving and Respite Coalition (NYSCRC) can assist groups by mentoring through the startup of a Share the Care™ group. Share the Care™ provides the structure and interpersonal discussions generally absent in caregiving. In addition, NYSCRC can provide further training using the REST model (Respite Education and Support Tools) to teams who need more skills and confidence to complete the caregiving role.
