The screenshot shows the homepage of the Tarnow Center for Self-Management. It features a portrait of Dr. Tarnow, the center's founder. The header includes the center's name and a call to action for appointments. Below the header is a navigation menu with links to various services and resources. A sidebar on the left lists services like Diagnostic Services, Individual Treatment, and Family Therapy. The main content area includes a "CURRENT NEWS" section with an image of a dog and a caption about pets being important for anxious children.

We are an interdisciplinary team incorporating psychiatry, psychology, speech/language pathology and educational specialists, offering comprehensive services including attention difficulties, learning differences, language disorders, emotional difficulties, and self-management problems. Individual assessment & treatment, group therapy, and coaching services available for children and adults.

See our website for more information. The site contains descriptions of most mental health disorders, recommended reading list, many articles, resources, and links to relevant and current news listed by topic. You can also get the current news if you follow us on Twitter, Facebook, or LinkedIn. Plus a blog from a different clinician each week of news you need to know regarding mental health.

CHOICES

Choices is a holistic prevention program designed to arm students with the executive functioning skills and cognitive tools to make healthy behavioral choices.

Why Your School Needs Choices

Choices takes on the specific challenges that face today's high school students. Choices helps all members of the school community - students, parents, and faculty - to acquire the tools to help our children make good, healthy, mature decisions. Measured results from student surveys demonstrate success within each partner school, as marked by the consistent decrease in reported high-risk behavior since implementation.

Schools interested in implementing a Choices program on their campus may contact Crystal Collier, PhD, LPC-S at 281.200.9262.
