Windsor, Connecticut
Tues., Oct. 24, 2017
12 noon-2 pm
Luncheon program

Connecticut Construction Law, Policy and Liability Today for Estimators, Architects, Engineers and Contractors

Consulting Estimators Round Table will present a panel discussion concerning the state of construction law and policy today, liability and other issues affecting estimators, architects, engineers and contractors.

The program will be timely, interesting and relevant for CERT members, A/E/C industry professionals and construction lawyers.

A panel consisting of two Connecticut state officials who oversee the A/E/C industry and two experienced construction attorneys will discuss:

- Recent new laws affecting the industry in Connecticut. How Public Act 15-28 subjecting the state to a statute of limitations for actions and claims arising out of construction-related work, eff. Oct. 1, 2017, may affect state contracting.
- The state budget, taxes, capital programs and infrastructure spending affecting state agencies, including the Department of Administrative Services.
- Professional liability for estimators, contractors, architects and design professionals.
- Significant recent court decisions affecting the A/E/C industry.
- What to expect from the General Assembly and state government in 2018 for legislation, the state budget, policies and regulations concerning construction and infrastructure spending.

The program will provide all attendees with practical information to remain current and informed about new laws and recent changes affecting the industry.
