

Ellen Smith is Managing Counsel & Global Trade Compliance Director for Baker Hughes, where she leads a global team of trade compliance professionals responsible for daily import, export, trade sanctions and boycott compliance advice and training, as well as program development, implementation and administration. Ellen has been with Baker Hughes for three years and in the Oilfield Services Industry for six years, consistently working with Russian and Caspian colleagues on legal compliance issues. Ellen started her legal compliance career in private practice with an International Trade firm in Chicago, Illinois over 17 years ago. Prior to moving to Houston six years ago, Ellen was part of the legal leadership team at a global apparel brand in the Chicago area for more than seven years. Ellen earned her undergraduate degree from Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, and received her law degree from The John Marshall Law School, in Chicago, Illinois.