

Bio: David E. Houchins, Ph.D.

David E. Houchins, Ph.D. is a Professor in the Department of Educational Psychology, Special Education, and Communication Disorders at Georgia State University in Atlanta. Dr. Houchins was a secondary special education in Palm Beach County, Florida where he taught students with learning and behavioral disabilities. He is Past President of the Council for Exceptional Children's Division for Research and the current national awards committee Chair. He has been the principle investigator on more than $6.5 million in grant funding (e.g., OSEP, IES) focusing on preparing teachers and providing research. Areas of interest include alternative school academic strategies and transition services for at-risk secondary youth. His publications focus on literacy instruction, professional development, and evidence-based practices in alternative schools. He has served as a national expert and trainer for numerous state, national, and international entities.