

Free Town Hall on Diversity in the Workplace
a collaborative experience sharing event

June 30, 2020

Agenda:

- A brief introduction & jumping right into presenting best practices and ways to implement communications within your organization around racism, BLM, and overall sensitivity to diversity;
- Each of you will have the opportunity to submit questions in advance of the Town Hall;
- myHRpartner HR/Diversity professionals will be responding to your questions throughout the Town Hall.

Some of the questions that were addressed during the event:

- What are suggested best practices in talking with staff about BLM without getting political?
- How does an organization start the crucial conversations around racism and biases in the work environment?
- How can I proactively create a more diverse pool of candidates for my open positions? What job boards, sources, or services are out there that specifically target minority applicants? What are hiring techniques for a diverse candidate pool in a limited diversity area?
- What have company's done to engage their staff around diversity and inclusion?
- How do we maintain balance so that no one feels that someone else is getting preferential treatment?
