Maurice L. Harris Announces Departure from Diocesan Communications Minister Role

Dear People of The Episcopal Church in Vermont,

Please join me in thanking Dr. Maurice L. Harris for his service over the past three-and-a-half years and wishing him well on the next chapter of his journey. Maurice has served as our full-time communications minister since 2016 and as a volunteer co-facilitator of the diocese's racial reconciliation and racial healing network since 2017. He recently accepted a new job opportunity in Connecticut and will be relocating there with his husband, Might, in early January.

Although I am sad to see the Harrises leave Vermont, Maurice and I have spent some time discussing how we might leverage his transition to expand the ministry of The Episcopal Church in Vermont in new and creative ways while maintaining the high-quality newsletter, social media channels, web content, and media relations that have enhanced our fellowship within the church and our evangelism in the wider community. Part of this strategic vision includes creating a dedicated Ministry Support Team resource for racial reconciliation, as well as other sites of cultural transformation to which our diocese has been committed.

To that end, I have asked Canticle Communications to begin working with us on communications and advancement. Canticle is a firm, founded in 2009, that works primarily in The Episcopal Church helping dioceses and other church institutions with strategic communications. Some of you may know Canticle's partners, Jim Naughton and Rebecca Wilson, from their consulting with The Episcopal Church in Vermont in 2013, and may also know that our own Kathleen Moore, transitional deacon from St. James, Arlington and former communications minister, is Canticle's communications manager. In working with Canticle, we will have the benefit of both churchwide experience and deep knowledge of our context here in Vermont. Canticle is already working with Maurice to ensure a smooth transition.

Early this year, I will be working with selected diocesan leaders to continue the work in racial reconciliation and racial healing by creating a leadership framework for cultural transformation. You can expect to hear more from me about that process as it unfolds.

As we bid farewell to Maurice, I give thanks for his ministry and for God's abundance, which is drawing us into ever more faithful ways of joining God's mission. Thank you for your participation in our shared ministry.

Peace and blessings,

+Shannon

The Rt. Rev. Dr. Shannon MacVean-Brown
Bishop, The Episcopal Church in Vermont

Support Available for Vermonters to Attend Evangelism Matters Conference in Atlanta January 21-24, 2020

By the Rev. Dr. Titus Presler | Convener, Green Mountain Witness Team

The next Evangelism Matters Conference offered by the Episcopal Church's Evangelism Initiative will be held Tuesday-Friday, Jan. 21-24, in Atlanta, GA. This gathering, which will feature a Q&A with Presiding Bishop Michael Curry, will occur in tandem with the larger and multi-faceted Rooted in Jesus conference, which itself has an Evangelism Track.

Financial support is available for a few Vermont Episcopalians to attend the conference, which promises to be inspirational and educational for those committed to sharing the good news of Christ with others. Recall that The Episcopal Church understands evangelism to be "the spiritual practice of seeking, naming and celebrating Jesus' loving presence in the stories of all people, and then inviting everyone to more." Interested persons can be in touch with me, Titus Presler, at (802) 326-3157 or at titus-presler@post.harvard.edu.

In addition to the Presiding Bishop, the Evangelism Matters Pre-Conference will feature Canon Stephanie Spellers, who spoke at the 2018 Vermont Diocesan Convention; Evangelism Staff Officer Jerusalem Greer; and Bill Boyce of the Diocese of Massachusetts, among others. The pre-conference runs Tuesday and Wednesday, with the Rooted in Jesus conference running from Wednesday evening until Friday 2 p.m. The Evangelism Track within the main conference has very substantial offerings, so if one's time is limited, it would be very worthwhile for Vermont evangelists to attend Rooted in Jesus alone, Wednesday-Friday. However, one cannot register for the Tuesday-Wednesday pre-conference without also registering for the main conference.

Green Mountain Witness, the evangelism initiative of the Diocese of Vermont, was greatly energized by team members attending the Evangelism Matters conference held in Cleveland in March 2018, so we as a team highly recommend this 2020 conference to Vermonters who can attend. Green Mountain Witness received a grant from the churchwide initiative that has helped fund the diocesan work since then, and assistance for attending the 2020 conference will be from that fund. Please be in touch!

News in Pictures: After Six Years of Silence, St. Luke's Rings in the New Year with Functioning Bells

The holidays seemed somehow incomplete without the familiar sound of bells from Advent through Christmas and into the New Year. For six years the town of St. Albans inhabited a silence that longed to be filled with the melodious chimes of St. Luke's Episcopal Church—an impossibility since pigeons had taken over the bell tower and damaged the electronic chime system. Then as 2019 drew to a close, parishioners played the role of Christmas angels, implementing necessary repairs and installing deterrents to keep the birds out. By year's end the bells were once again heralding God's love throughout the town.

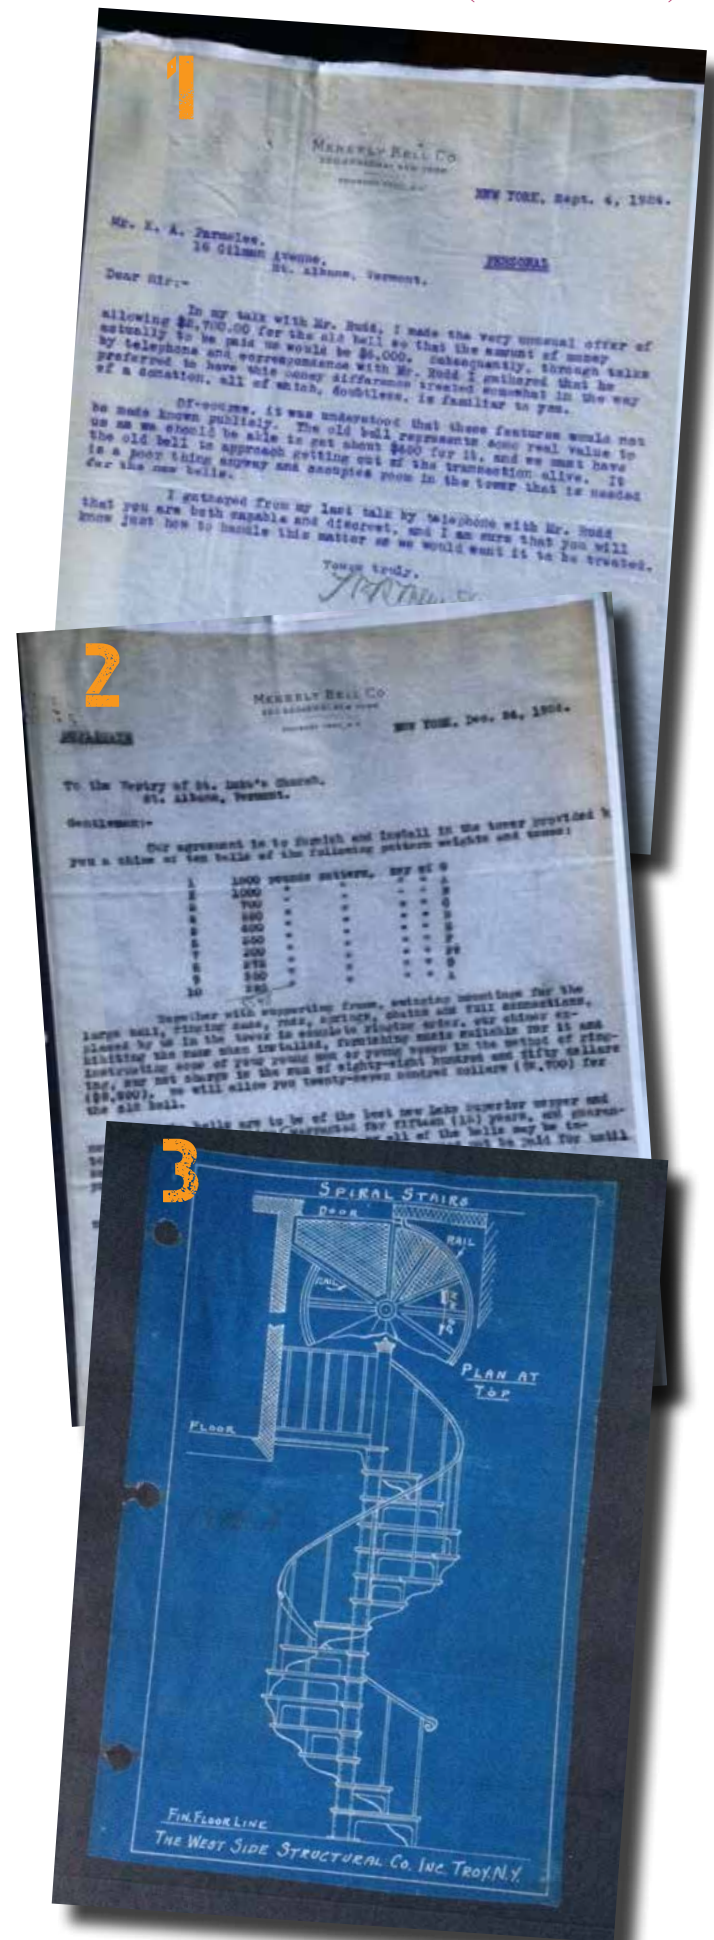

The decision to invest resources into the repair of the chime system was due in part to its fascinating history. When the church building was constructed in 1861 it was outfitted with a single bell and manual ringer, typical of churches at that time. In 1924, the Bostwick family championed the installation of a multi-chime system enabling songs to be played by a bell choir. Thus, the single bell was traded at Meneely Bell Company in New York City for credit toward a 10-bell chime system as documented in photos 1 and 2.

The West Side Structural Company of Troy New York was hired to install a spiral staircase in the bell tower to reach the chime system as shown in photo 3. Each bell in the chime system was dedicated to a saint and to the memory of past church members as documented on the next page in photo 4.

In 1967, the people of St. Luke's commissioned the Verdin Bell Company of Cincinnati, Ohio and Church Specialties of Poultney, Vermont to electrify the chime system (photo 5) so that the entire mechanism could be played by a keyboardist rather than a bell choir. Ten year ago, the system was again upgraded to read digital files from a computer system designed by Chime Master of Lancaster, Ohio. Unfortunately, when pigeons tore through the protective mesh over the bell tower openings (see photo 6) and damaged components inside the chime system the bells fell silent six years ago.

From August to September 2019, David Dupont and Rick Hamilton evicted pigeons and repaired the bell tower openings (photos 7 and 8). From October to December, Chris Kenyon, a veteran U. S. Navy electronics expert and long time St. Luke's member, made electrical repairs. Now restored to their former glory, the bells at St. Luke's are enjoyed by churchgoers and the wider community. In photo 9, Rick tours the bell tower with his daughter, Kate.

By now you may be wondering how the bells sound. Click for a video clip or audio recording of the chime system in action.

VT Care Partners Invites Faith Communities to Annual Health Equity Conference, March 13

BURLINGTON, VT - Vermont Care Partners (VCP) will be hosting an annual health equity event on March 13 at the University of Vermont Davis Center in Burlington. VCP is a trade organization and advocacy group that supports 16 designated and special service agencies in Vermont for individuals with mental health conditions, substance use disorders, and intellectual and developmental disabilities.

For the past the years, the VCP conference has addressed the need to promote health equity and cultural and linguistic competence among providers and community members. Last year nearly 400 people gathered to hear speakers from around country and expand their network. This year's event is geared toward the following goals:

1. Expanding participant knowledge and understanding of the impact of racism, sexism, classism, ableism, and cultural blindness on health equity and cultural competence
2. Promoting innovative practices and approaches that increase the inclusion of all people in the broader healthcare system
3. Increasing participant knowledge of peer-driven programs and approaches that promote inclusion
4. Expanding participant understanding of community members and organizations that also promote health equity and wellness
5. Increasing participant knowledge about the intersection between the policy initiatives and community practices that promote inclusion and cultural competence

To address the role of faith based organizations in the promotion of health equity, VCP has invited Sydney Hankerson, MD, from Columbia University to lead a three-hour workshop on working collaboratively with faith organizations and leaders to promote equitable access to care. Additionally, Vivian Jackson, PhD, from Georgetown will deliver a keynote address and lead a workshop on cultural and linguistic competency. Maria Mercedes Avila, PhD, will moderate a panel discussion and film screening about cultural and linguistic competence.

Trinity Rutland to Host 'Western Star' Performance, Epiphany Potluck Party, January 11

The Western Star Performance & Epiphany Potluck Party
January 11, 2020 at 4:30 p.m.
Trinity Episcopal Church
85 West Street, Rutland, Vermont

The Western Star is an epic poem with songs celebrating the season of Epiphany and the return of the light. This event will celebrate the New Year, winter and Epiphany. Freewill offering gratefully accepted.

*And so the ageing year began to die,
And each cold morn the sun grew later still,
And each lamented eve more heavy-lidded
Fell back beyond the wise king's earthly realm.
Until, that is, one frigid, glassy night...*

A solo, storytelling performance in poetry and song (75-minute running time), The Western Star evokes a meditative, liminal atmosphere through the rhythms of language and flickering candlelight. The poem is a celebration of light in darkness, the turning of the seasons, and the ever-renewing hope of Epiphany. Come join Trinity Episcopal Church in making the journey of the Three Kings an unforgettably moving community tradition.

Jack DesBois

Jack DesBois is a Middlebury, VT-based actor, singer and poet dedicated to sharing joy through live performance. In addition to The Western Star, Jack's unique solo repertoire includes V is the Valley, a conversation with the folk songs of Vermont, and Shakespeare's Songs, a centuries-spanning exploration of the bard's music. He also performs with Opera Company of Middlebury and the Middlebury Bach Festival, and he is a Teaching Artist for Courageous Stage's Shakespeare, It's Elementary literacy programs. Visit jackdesbois.com to learn more about Jack. For more information about the upcoming performance at Trinity Church, contact Wendy Grace, office@trinitychurchrutland.org; 802-775-4368.

SOUTH BURLINGTON, VT - All are invited to the Vermont Ecumenical Council's annual observance of the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity on Sunday, January 16 at 4:00 p.m. The event will take place at Faith United Methodist Church, 899 Dorset St, South Burlington, VT. The Rev. Jill Colley Robinson, district superintendent, Vermont district, New England Conference United Methodist Church, will be preaching.

The worldwide observance of the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity is sponsored annually by the Graymoor Ecumenical and Interreligious Institute between the feasts of the Confession of St. Peter and the Conversion of St. Paul (Jan. 18-25). This year's theme from Acts 28:2 is: "They showed us unusual kindness." A light ecumenical supper will follow the service. All are welcome.

Please note that all members of The Episcopal Church in Vermont are part of the Vermont Ecumenical Council through diocesan membership. For more information about the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity or the diocese's affiliation with the Vermont Ecumenical Council, please contact the Rev. Dr. Frederick Moser, ecumenical and interreligious officer: fredmoser@trinityshelburne.org.

Practices of Prayer, Worship, and Community

Jan. 30–Feb. 1, 2020
The University of the South
Sewanee, Tennessee

In this two-part educational and experiential series facilitated by the Rev. Stuart Higginbotham and Kate Eaton, we'll explore two aspects of congregational vitality: cultivating practices that invite Christ's indwelling presence in both ordained leaders and in communities, and processes for creating dynamic and transformative worship that stirs the senses and opens the heart. Participants will leave refreshed, inspired, and prepared with tools and resources for engaging ministry.

Now Underway Thru Jan 28 'Rebirthing of God' Book Study

ESSEX JUNCTION, VT - Jesus was born over 2,000 years ago. How might he be reborn in our hearts today? What might the future of Christian faith be along with the Church that has nourished his message for two millennia? Are you longing for a deeper, more engaged Christmas season? St. James, Essex Junction is exploring these topics in a multi-week study and discussion of The Rebirthing of God by John Philip Newell on Tuesday mornings and Thursday evenings. The next session is scheduled for Tuesday, January 7 at 10:00 am and Thursday, January 9 at 7:00 p.m.

2020 Celtic Pilgrimage in Ireland

In fall 2020, the Rev. Kim Hardy and the Rev. Dr. Fred Moser will again lead an annual pilgrimage to Ireland with their extraordinary guides. This year, the focus will be on areas in the northwest of the island around Counties Sligo and Donegal and in the southeast County Wicklow.

Ireland offers a deep gift in its vastly contrasting landscapes that mysteriously draw one into possibilities for reflection. Striking contrasts of craggy hills, jagged seaside cliffs, soft beaches, deep-green forests, and subtle light reflecting off waters and hillsides have power to connect us with the spirit of the Divine as apprehended in nature. Exploring such connections was one, though not the only, hallmark of the ancient Celtic church. Those who have come with groups before comment on how these journeys, with time to walk and rest, disconnect as well as reconnect, and make new companion friends along the way, open them to the Divine in ways not imagined.

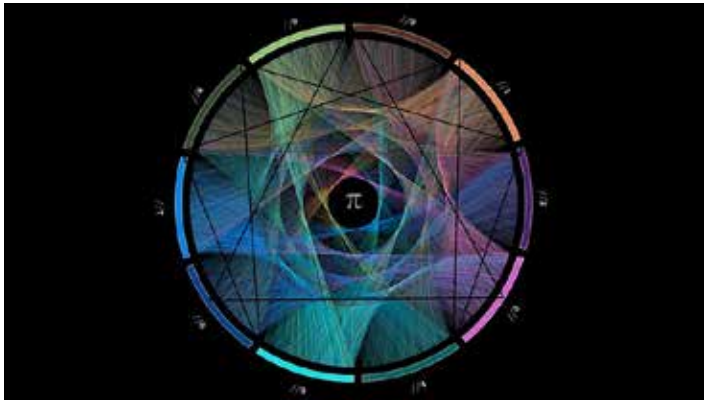

There are only 12 openings this year, so please contact Kim at revkimhardy@gmail.com soon if you are interested. This will be a special journey and Kim and Fred hope you will consider joining them. The itinerary and details can be found at the links below. Blessings on the journey!

The Enneagram as Wisdom Practice, March 12-15, 2020

Engaging the Enneagram as Wisdom Practice with Jeanine Siler Jones, March 12 - 15, 2020
Rock Point Center | Burlington, Vermont

The retreat will begin with arrivals and registration, starting at 4:00 on Thursday, March 12, and will conclude with lunch on Sunday, March 12-15. Join us for a practical engagement of the Wisdom lineage through the lens of the Enneagram. How can this map illuminate our habitual patterns so that we might soften our identification? How might it guide us in tracking all three centers of knowing so that we bring more of ourselves into Presence? How might we surrender more fully our attachments and habits as we shift the quality of our attention?

As we explore the potential of a more authentic and immediate relationship with life and the Divine. We will follow a Wisdom School rhythm with meditation, chant, Lectio Divina, movement and mindful work. Engaging somatic and attention practices and the Wisdom roots of the Enneagram, we will track what jams the signals around our hearts. Together we will create a walking Enneagram and let this ancient symbol teach us.

Jeanine Siler Jones, LCSW, is a therapist at www.silerjonescounseling.com in Asheville, North Carolina. She has been an Enneagram teacher for 15 years and is a primary igniter of Wisdom School Southeast in the lineage of Cynthia Bourgeault. She has a Certificate in Theology from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary and is trained as a Wisdom infused Spiritual Director from Moravian Theological Seminary. Read more about her in Growing! Seedlings at northeastwisdom.org.

Registration/Questions: Contact Craig Smith 802-863-3431 or csmith@diovermont.org. Cost: $420 single room; $330 shared; $250 commuter with limited scholarships available.

A Holiday Retreat on Lake Como, Italy, October 11-16, 2020

LAKE COMO, ITALY - Journeying with God, a guided holiday retreat at Church of the Ascension on Lake Caomo, Italy, will take place October 11-16 and is now accepting registrations. The lakeside church serves a large community of summer visitors and a small community of full-time residents and holiday home-owners. Although part of the Church of England, Church of the Ascension attracts attendees from all over the world. The priest and retreat leader, the Rev. Roger Williams, is from Australia. Read More
