Welcome! You may notice this edition has a different look from previous issues of The Mountain. Rather than linking to a digital magazine, each story in this edition can be read within this email or on the diocesan website.

We'd like your feedback on the design and usability of this newsletter format, and also want to hear from you about stories for future issues and other communications requests and questions. Send emails to communications@diovermont.org.

Being Obedient to God's Commandment to Love

A message from Bishop Shannon

Last week, I wrote to you urging the cancelation of all public in-person worship, meetings and events until further notice. This week, it has become clearer that we will not be back in our church buildings to observe Holy Week and celebrate Easter. In fact, yesterday Presiding Bishop Michael Curry wrote to the church asking us all to forego in-person Holy Week and Easter services.

Bishop Shannon leads Compline on Zoom screen grab: the Rev. Canon Lee Crawford

This is a Lenten fast that none of us could have anticipated. But as we enter further into it, I find myself experiencing social distance as a way to be obedient to God's commandment to love one another and the most vulnerable people in our midst. I am thankful for the technology that gives us new ways to gather and learn to be the people of God. If your congregation would like to offer online worship, you can find resources for doing so on the diocesan website.

I invite all members of our diocesan household to gather on Zoom at 8:00 a.m. each day (except Sunday) for Morning Prayer and 8:00 p.m. each day for Compline. I will also be offering Sunday prayer services on Zoom at 11:00 a.m. You can join us at: <https://zoom.us/j/531110497> (or dial by phone: 646-876-9923, code 531110497#). Please invite the people of your congregation to join us as they are able.

I am thankful for your faithfulness as we journey through this time of holy obedience. You are, as always, in my prayers.

Peace and blessings,
Bishop Shannon

The Restoration Project Book Study Join Bishop Shannon Online in April

In her Lenten message, Bishop Shannon issued an invitation to join her in reading “The Restoration Project: A Benedictine Path to Wisdom, Strength, and Love,” by Christopher H. Martin. The book is available in print, ebook and audiobook formats. Hopkins Bookshop at Trinity Shelburne has ordered several copies. Email Jenny Ogelby to order a copy.

“My prayer is that ‘The Restoration Project’ will inspire us to explore new and creative ways to live and articulate our faith every day in our congregations and communities,” Bishop Shannon said. “And for those who are called to go deeper, the book offers a helpful guide for starting and leading congregational discipleship groups. I look forward to reading it together.”

The book discussion will include:

- April 2, 6 p.m.: Bishop Shannon will convene a video conversation about the book, focusing on Chapter 6. Join the conversation using this link: <https://zoom.us/j/306048033>.
- April 8: Bishop Shannon will post a final reflection about the book on Facebook and host a conversation in the comments.

Email communications@diovermont.org with questions.

Tracking "Virtual Attendance" for the Parochial Report

The General Convention office is advising churches to keep track of the metrics for digital worship services during the COVID-19 pandemic for possible inclusion in the 2020 parochial report.

More specific guidance will be forthcoming, the Rev. Canon Dr. Michael Barlowe, executive officer of the General Convention, wrote in an email to diocesan administrators.

In the meantime, he recommends, noting "virtual attendance" using whatever metrics an online platform provides.

The parochial report filing site will remain live beyond the usual May 1 deadline.

Online Worship Guide

A guide for congregations interested in offering online worship on Zoom or Facebook Live is now available on the diocesan website.

Join Partners in Resilience

Episcopal Relief & Development
US Disaster Team

The Episcopal Relief & Development US Disaster Team is looking for new people to join Partners in Response and Resilience (Partners. Partners are volunteers who work closely with US program staff and diocesan leaders as they prepare for and recover from disasters.

Disasters have a disproportionate impact on historically-marginalized communities, and Episcopal Relief & Development centers the experiences of these communities in preparedness and response programming. Partners play an important role in ensuring that our programming serves the most vulnerable people in disaster-impacted communities.
