COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Emphasis is often placed on adhesive dentistry in today's practice, with the quality of the tooth-restorative interface being a key determinant for successful outcomes. With so many materials and techniques available, how do we know what to use and how to use it? What does the evidence suggest?

This presentation will cover current and important considerations of various materials and techniques at this crucial adhesive interface and offer tips you can use to help improve your clinical outcomes.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

- Apply evidence-based decision making with adhesive materials and techniques
- Understand the science behind adhesive materials and techniques
- Enhance your clinical outcomes and patient care

Our Guest Speaker:

Marc Hayashi,
DMD
