

TRAUMA 108: TRAUMA AND RACISM

RECOMMENDED PREREQUISITE TRAINING

TRAUMA 107: TRAUMA-INFORMED CULTURAL SENSITIVITY

This workshop will provide information on the subject of racism with a focus on defining basic aspects and components of racism, historic racism, and researcher bias.

Additionally, time will be spent integrating trauma principles to highlight the profound impact of racism while offering ideas with regard to the responsibilities of all individuals to actively promote anti-racism and social equality.

There will be opportunities for individual reflection and constructive conversations among participants to allow consideration of action steps to take as individuals, communities, and a society to challenge and change attitudes, beliefs, and behaviors around race.

Tuesday, April 22

9:00am - 1:00pm

Zoom

REGISTER NOW

Lakeside Global Institute (LGI)

Featured Trainers:

Keshia Bell-Jones and April Matt

LGI is a collegiate-style professional development training. The uniqueness of their training is the intentional design, which both nurtures and supports individuals to grow in self-awareness while learning research-based information in many fields of study.

CEU Eligible

Gwynedd Mercy
University

Bachelor of Social Work