Students Desperately Need Tutors Can You Help?

Pandemic school disruptions resulted in the largest drop in reading achievement in 30 years, according to newly released national test scores.

- Ten students are waiting for a virtual reading coach for a 30 minute session either at 4:00 or 5:30 PM.
- We have a list of waiting 3rd grade and high school students who need help to get back on track with math. Our online program walks tutors through each problem and does not require advanced math skills. To learn more contact Maria Dell, program manager.
- Reading coaches can help K-5 students in their classrooms as they struggle after several years of interrupted learning. Volunteers needed in Phoenixville, Ridley and SE Delaware County and in North Penn. To learn more contact Jackie Matusow, program manager.
- A new afterschool program that supports low-income students throughout West Chester has 42 students who need in-person literacy support. Volunteers read to K-5 students to provide literacy enrichment and support.

Please let us know if you can help.
