

STRATEGIC PLANNING MADE SIMPLE

Some people (especially software vendors) may lead you to believe that strategic planning is something only large corporations do (and they do it once a year at that). However, we can and should create personal strategic plans, as well as plans for ALL organizations, large and small, corporate and non-profit alike. This session will teach you how to create simple, one-page strategic plans that are highly effective and the habits needed to make the plan work for you.
