

Learning Through Play ~ May

Spring: A wonderful reminder of how truly beautiful change can be!

Nature Inspired Tic-Tac-Toe !

This can be done on any size of stump. I love all the coloured rocks—such a nice way to add colour! Simply have the children paint the rocks and then you can add the x's and the o's or whatever 2 different symbols for a fun backyard game!

A treasure hunt fit for a King or a Queen!

There are many ways you can build this crown. One way is to have children glue the nature pieces to a piece of cardstock the length of the circumference of the child's head after collecting the decorations. Another way is to have the crown frame all ready on their head and have it covered in double sided tape so that on a nature walk the children can be adding to the crown as they go. Either way is sure to please creative minds!

LauraRadniecki.com

Here's one way to eat a rainbow!
& get the children to eat veggies—who could resist! Just cut slices of peppers and a piece of cauliflower to represent the clouds—Yum!

Colored Frogs

Tune: Have You Ever Seen a Lassie?

Have you ever seen a (color) frog, a (color) frog, a (color) frog?
Have you ever seen a (color) frog, go hop, hop, hop, hop!

Have children hop like frogs on lily pads.

© 2015 teachingmama.org

Veggie Flowers

Cucumbers topped with peppers, a ranch dip centre and a celery stem, it would be hard to turn this healthy snack down!

Did someone say Hungry Caterpillar?!

