

HOFSTRA NORTHWELL
SCHOOL of MEDICINE

The Osler Society
of the
Hofstra Northwell School of Medicine in conjunction with
The Department of Psychiatry
Northwell Health

Present

A Theater in Medicine Event * A Humanities in Medicine Program

I FOUND THAT THE SUN WILL RISE TOMORROW

A One-Woman Performance
featuring author & actress
Anna Snapp

September 14, 2017

5:30pm, Reception

6pm, Performance

7pm-8pm, Expert Panel Discussion & Author/Performer Q&A

The Teaching Center (T1-3) LIJ Medical Center

270-05 76th Avenue, New Hyde Park, NY 11040

In the autobiographical play, I Found That the Sun Will Rise Tomorrow, Anna Snapp shares a poignant and revealing recital of the debilitating ailments, diagnoses, and painful incidents that her 26-year-old body and mind have endured since she was teenager, including autoimmune disease, infection, suicidal depression, bipolar disorder, and a trauma-induced eating disorder.

All Physicians, Health Care Providers and Medical Students are encouraged to attend.

All are welcome * Seating is limited * No Fee to attend * RSVP is required: [Add Link]

Please contact Lisa Martin at Lisa.Martin@hofstra.edu for more information.