

CASE WESTERN RESERVE
UNIVERSITY
Clinical and Translational
Science Collaborative

Lessons Learned in Community-Based Participatory Research

CTSC Community Engaged Research
Mentoring Program Welcomes

Latrice Rollins, PhD, MSW

Dr. Rollins is an Associate Professor at Morehouse School of Medicine in the Department of Community Health and Preventive Medicine and Prevention Research Center. She is also the director of the National African American Child and Family Research Center. She is the principal investigator for several community-based participatory research (CBPR) studies focused on systems changes to advance health outcomes.

February 17, 2026

12:00 - 1:00PM

Virtual via Zoom

Scan or Click to Register!

Join this session to learn how Dr. Rollins:

- Leads Fathers Matter ATL, a multi-sector collaborative promoting father engagement through community-driven initiatives
- Uses research and real-world partnerships to improve family and community health outcomes
- Develops practical insights for applications in community, clinical, and research settings

After the talk, we'll open the floor for an opportunity to ask questions and engage directly with Dr. Rollins on these crucial topics.

case.edu/medicine/ctsc