In this webinar, we will explore:

Success stories from CDRI-funded projects across the U.S.

How researchers and providers can collaborate on proposals to develop and evaluate models for home and community-based respite care.

A spotlight on Lucky Shoals Community Association, a nonprofit serving under-resourced families in Georgia, with a free, volunteer-driven program tailored to cultural and linguistic needs.

Webinar Description:

Join the Alzheimer's Association's Center for Dementia Respite Innovation (CDRI) as we showcase groundbreaking approaches to respite care. This webinar will discuss the upcoming call for proposals and ways for researchers and providers to partner on proposals to CDRI, which is investing up to $20 million over five years to help providers deliver person-centered, accessible, and sustainable dementia-specific respite care.
