

SPJ KANSAS PRO CHAPTER
JOURNALISM SCHOLARSHIPS
FOR STUDENTS IN KANSAS

INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS APPLYING FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

Dear Student,

Thank you for your interest in the scholarships offered by the Kansas Pro Chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists. The chapter expects to offer scholarships totaling up to $10,500 this year to deserving college sophomores, juniors and seniors planning careers in journalism. Before you complete the attached application, please read the following information carefully to ensure you are eligible.

General eligibility requirements: By Fall 2022 you must be a sophomore, junior or senior (by hours) enrolled in at least 6 credit hours at a Kansas accredited college or university. You must have and maintain a minimum 2.5 cumulative GPA and be seriously considering a career in journalism.

Specific scholarships have their own eligibility requirements:

THE MICHAEL BATES MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP Award: $1,000
Eligibility: Must have 3.0 GPA or better. Must have demonstrated involvement in student and/or professional news media. This scholarship honors the memory of former Associated Press journalist Mike Bates, Bates was president of the Kansas Pro Chapter at the time of his death from lymphoma in 1996.

BILL WARREN SCHOLARSHIP #1 Award: $2,000
Eligibility: Students must have a passion for First Amendment rights. Preference is given to students with an interest in investigative journalism.

BILL WARREN SCHOLARSHIP #2 Award: $2,000
Eligibility: Preference is given to students with an interest in investigative journalism. The Bill Warren Scholarships are from donations by Wichita businessman Bill Warren to promote the importance of journalism in general and investigative journalism in particular.

THE LES ANDERSON MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP Award: $1,000
Eligibility: Must be a Wichita State student. This scholarship honors the memory of Les Anderson, a Wichita State University journalism professor, newspaper publisher, journalist and longtime friend of Gridiron. Anderson and his wife, Nancy, founded the Ark Valley News in Valley Center in 1975. Anderson worked for five newspapers. He joined the WSU faculty in 1977 and was a longtime member of the SPJ Kansas board of directors and scholarship committee. He was a fierce advocate for his students and respected as a great journalist and a great man. Anderson died of a heart attack in November 2011 at age 62.

THE SPJ MINORITY STUDENT SCHOLARSHIP Award: $500

Eligibility: Must be member of a racial or ethnic minority group.

CHRIS SHULL MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP Award: $1,000
Eligibility: Student should be pursuing a degree in journalism, have demonstrated an interest about the coverage of arts and music, have and maintain a GPA of 3.0 or higher, and enrolled in a minimum of 12 credit hours per semester. Chris Shull — or “Shull” as he was known by most — covered arts and music at the Wichita Eagle from 1998 to 2008. His enormous laugh and big voice in the Eagle newsroom was often a subject of conversation, but his unique coverage of the arts was unsurpassed. The Chris Shull Memorial Scholarship is to help support students who are passionate about the coverage of arts and music and are looking to find their own voice to do so.

RANDY BROWN MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP Award: $1,500
Eligibility: Must be a student seriously considering a career in journalism. This scholarship honors Randy Brown, a long-time Wichita journalist and advocate for transparency in government. He also taught at Wichita State University and led the Kansas Sunshine Coalition for Open Government. He died in 2014.

BILL ROY SCHOLARSHIP Award: $500
Eligibility: This is an open scholarship for students pursuing a career in journalism. This scholarship honors Bill Roy, who has been editor-in-chief at the Wichita Business Journal for nearly 20 years. He continues to lead the WBJ after having been diagnosed with ALS in 2019. In addition to his work at the Business Journal, he has become an advocate for those battling the same illness by raising awareness and participating in research efforts.

BUD NORMAN SCHOLARSHIP Award: $1,000
Eligibility: This is an open scholarship for students pursuing a career in journalism. This scholarship honors Bud Norman, a reporter and columnist at The Wichita Eagle for 25 years. He was also an author and was part of the Gridiron show for 35 years, for which he wrote and performed his own skits that came full of political wit and commentary. Norman was a long-time Wichita resident, known beyond journalism for his convertible cars, Panama hats and socializing with fellow patrons at Kirby's Beer Store and Harry's. He died in 2020.

Additional general-eligibility scholarships may be granted, in amounts to be determined by the scholarship committee based on funds available and the pool of applicants.

SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATION, 2022-2023 ACADEMIC YEAR

These scholarships are funded by the chapter’s annual Gridiron benefit, a musical revue satirizing the news and newsmakers.

Please note: The scholarship committee does not discriminate on the basis of sex, creed, race or religious beliefs. The committee reserves the right to withhold all or part of any award should recipients conduct themselves in a manner that chapter officers deem professionally irresponsible. The selection of a recipient does not imply any endorsement by the committee or chapter. The committee has the right to forgo awarding any or all scholarships if no applicants are deemed to qualify. Again, thank you for your interest. Good luck!
