SLEEPY HOLLOW UPDATE

Sleepy Hollow students have started 2020 with a very positive attitude! This works well because it is also the character trait for the month of January. Smiles abound from students when being recognized for this trait at Sleepy Hollow's weekly assemblies.

In celebration of the new year, Sleepy Hollow's outdoor bulletin board is dedicated to class resolutions. Contributions from each class include reading goals, keeping the campus clean, being kind and nice, and an all-time favorite: remembering to dance. Of course, remembering to dance was demonstrated by Sleepy Hollow teachers during this week's assembly, as remembering to dance helps everyone remember to smile and have fun!

Before honoring Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. with a school holiday on Monday, Sleepy Hollow 4th and 5th graders will enjoy a special assembly about Civil Rights, given by Stuart House, Director of Facilities. This is always a valuable assembly, as students are mesmerized by meeting someone who actually marched with Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Believe it or not, classes will be celebrating the 100th day of school pretty soon. From bringing 100 items to school to writing about what life might be like as a 100 year old person, Sleepy Hollow will mark this special time of year with great enthusiasm.

Over the next two weeks, grade level teams will be meeting together for a Long Range Planning session. This is a critical time to work together as we plan for the next few months.

Sleepy Hollow third graders are in for a real treat because starting next week, third grade students across the district will take part in a Mindfulness program. The district has partnered with Mindful Littles and a facilitator will visit each class for a 15-20 minute Mindfulness session. Sleepy Hollow is excited to have Mindful Littles bring greater emotional and social well-being to all our third grade students.

The students' backpacks will soon have a place to hang! Thanks to the Maintenance Dept., backpack hooks will be installed, making it easy to hang backpacks and clear the way for a pleasant walk through our school.
