MAXIMIZE AND PROTECT YOUR TELEX RADIO DISPATCH INVESTMENT

A dispatch system represents a significant investment in both time and money, from the initial equipment purchase and installation to the training of technicians and dispatchers. You and your organization will want to maximize and protect that investment as much as possible, and Telex is here to help.

We take pride in not only offering you flexible and cost-effective solutions, but also in supporting you as your system needs develop. Our engineering teams are always looking to enhance our products with new and/or updated technologies, and we value feedback and input from customers like you. Add to the mix our training, technical support and warranty service – coupled with flexible and often free upgrades to firmware and software – and you have the assurance that your system's life can be extended well beyond that of the competition.

Whether it's upgrading your existing system, looking to extend a warranty, or putting a whole new system together, please contact us to see how TELEX WORKS FOR YOU!
