UNISON PRAYER OF CONFESSON¹

O God, we know your Greatest Commandment. The words dwell in our hearts, and rest on our lips. And yet, we are so slow to act upon them. When we encounter neighbors in need we are quick to pass judgment, even though love demands empathy. We see your children suffering, but we are too busy, too weary to respond, even though love demands compassion. We see unjust systems strip others of dignity but believe we are powerless to effect change, even though love demands action. And whenever we do not treat our neighbors as we ourselves would hope to be treated, we do not love you fully.

Forgive us, Lord. Transform our hearts, restore our souls, and renew our minds, so we might be faithful to you and your commandments.

AFFIRMATION OF FAITH¹

adapted from the Confession of 1967, 9;32-33

Cathy W.

The life, death, resurrection, and promised coming of Jesus Christ has set the pattern for the church's mission. His human life involves the church in the common life of all people. His service to men and women commits the church to work for every form of human well-being. His suffering makes the church sensitive to all human sufferings that it sees the face of Christ in the faces of persons in every kind of need. His crucifixion discloses to the church God's judgment on the inhumanity that marks human relations, and the awful consequences of the church's own complicity in injustice.

In the power of the risen Christ and the hope of his coming, the church sees the promise of God's renewal of human life in society and of God's victory over all wrong. The church follows this pattern in the form of its life and in the method of its action. So to live and serve is to confess Christ as Lord.
