

EDUCATIONAL WORKSHOP

As the healthcare industry stores and transfers more and more personally identifiable information (PII) or personal health information (PHI) electronically, providers become an even more attractive target for hackers who can access a number of records in one incident. Are you at risk for Medical Identity theft? Would you recognize the symptoms? How can you prevent it? How do you recover? So, if you have questions or concerns about any of the information listed, we invite you and your family members to join us for this informative workshop.
