

The Poetry Forum

There are people who like poems.

They appreciate poems and wish they knew how to write them.

Well, wish no more. We will teach you how! In no time, you will be writing your own. No more boring and idle minutes and hours. Even days! It is very easy. We will start with simple and short poems like the ones below:

A. My pet is a dog.

It is black and white.

When he sees me coming

He wiggles with delight.

B. I have a granddaughter

She really looks like me.

I cuddle her in my arms

This is where she wants to be.

Simple and nice aren't they? You can do the same. We will teach you how. Come and learn with us.

When: Every Monday from 3:00 PM- 4:00 PM.

Where: The Community Room

We will see you there! You might be a poet writing to be discovered!

-Norma