

CREATIVE WRITING CLASS

Come and join with other writers in a creative experience where we will celebrate your uniqueness, transform some of your dramatic life experiences into pieces of literature like short stories, plays, monologues, film/TV treatments, magazine articles and blogs.

In a totally positive and supportive environment you will be free to discover and cultivate your individual artistic freedom and voice, while giving encouragement and constructive criticism to your companion writers. No grades, no homework, no pressure.

Our studio class motto: relax, enjoy, become present, and allow the stories inside you to be told.
