

Minority Outdoor Alliance

Biennial Bird Dog and Literary Development Grant

It is the mission of the Minority Outdoor Alliance, Inc to Make the Outdoors for everyone by forming a multicultural community of outdoorsmen and women whose active usage and commitment to hunting and angling provide strength in numbers to answer the call to conserve public lands and public waters. We are committed to diversifying hunters and anglers in the outdoors by creating opportunities for engagement with different races, genders and communities including the disabled.

This scholarship offers an undergraduate minority students in their Junior or Senior year at an accredited college or university the opportunity to develop him/herself as a bird dog trainer, conservationist, outdoor writer, and steward of the outdoors through a collaborative partnership with Minority Outdoor Alliance and Cha'Ann Kennels along with a select number of kennel partners. Cha'Ann Kennels has generously offered a Pointer puppy annually to a high achieving, hard working student in an effort to continue building and facilitating the next generation of upland bird hunters, bird dog trainers, field trialers, and outdoor writers. In addition, we have partnered with Melrose Kennels (Georgia) and Trinity Bretons (Iowa) to offer an alternative selection for the recipient of the grant. We will provide all necessary gear and apparel from our partner organizations to the young, aspiring bird dog trainer/ upland bird hunter to help establish a firm foundation and introduction into the culture of upland bird hunting. We also will provide $1000 a year for 2 years to total $2000 to the student for additional costs and support. We require the recipient to send monthly video updates showing the progress of the dog training/handler development along with completing four creative writing and/or research projects as an exploratory study that is relevant and significant to the student's cultural history in the outdoors for the fulfillment of the grant.
