Biography

Jim Barrett is a retired US Army veteran who is semi-retired and continues his passion of working with his hands as a part-time handyman locally. He and his wonderful wife, Eve, an investment property redesigner/property manager, permanently relocated to Western North Carolina in 2021 from Dunedin, Florida after their youngest child, Kynsey, started college at Florida State University as an ROTC Cadet. They also have an older son, Kylar, who graduated FSU as an Army officer and is currently a pilot flying Apache helicopters in Germany. While they purchased their current home in 2021, their Maggie Valley roots began in 2017 when they purchased a vacation home for the family and fell in love with the WNC lifestyle. Shortly after the purchase, they knew Maggie Valley was where they wanted to live, put down permanent roots and enjoy the American dream.
