

To: Stanford Health Care and Stanford Medicine Children’s Health Staff
From: Stanford Health Care Clinical Labs
Subject: Change in Everolimus Lab Testing, Effective 12/06/2022
Date: November 16, 2022

Introduction/Background

Everolimus lab test is currently sent out to another reference lab for testing with turnaround times close to 3 days. Effective 12/06/22, Everolimus lab test will be offered in-house with improved turnaround times and to reduce costs.

Impact

Effective 12/06,22, Everolimus Lab Test, Notable Changes/Updates

	NEW !	OLD
Test Order Code	LABEVEROLMS	LAB12853R and LAB5110 (LPCH)
Test Name	Everolimus, Blood	Everolimus, Blood
Specimen Requirements	Lavender top, EDTA	Lavender top, EDTA
Minimum Volume	1 ml (0.3 ml is acceptable for pediatric samples)	1 ml
Turnaround Time (TAT)	Less than 48 hours	~ 56 hours

- Same methodology (Liquid Chromatography with tandem mass spectrometry, LC-MS/MS)
- No changes to reference range
- Visit <https://stanfordlab.com/> for more information after effective date

If you have any questions, feel free to reach out to our Lab Customer Service team at DL-LabCustomerService@stanfordhealthcare.org.

Sincerely,

Ruben Luo, PhD, DABCC
Assistant Professor of Pathology
School of Medicine, Stanford University
Associate Director of Clinical Chemistry
Stanford Health Care