

Blessed

I am reviewing my past year as president of the LDCCW. It truly came in as a burst of wind as we practiced for the installation during a tornado warning in the basement of St. John XXIII center. My husband sent me a text saying now you know what to be prepared for! It has been a whirlwind of blessings!

This past March we lost one of our members. The funeral was a beautiful show of the Spiritual and Corporal Work of Mercy. To bury the dead and pray for the living and the dead. It was an awe inspiring moment to be with the women and priests who came together with their busy schedules to be there for their family and to be together during our grieving moment. I am blessed to grieve with my LDCCW Sisters.

I have made a commitment to visit as many of the 13 deaneries as possible. Covid has caused a lack of community with the women of the LDCCW. More than ever we need one another. I love the spirituality of the women I have encountered and have been uplifted every time I talk to them. I would love to come to your deanery meeting, give me a call. I am blessed to grow my faith with LDCCW Sisters.

Being President of the LDCCW means, I not only connect with the women of the diocese but also means I have been able to connect with my Sisters in Christ in the Dioceses of Grand Island and Arch Diocese of Omaha and our Province Director. I have been blessed to reach out and deepen my faith with the women of the Omaha Province.

We are working through and making adjustments with the ByLaws. This can be a tedious process and can be stressful. I enjoy these discussions that can help the women of the diocese. We are leaders and it is through spirited discussions we can improve our LDCCW leadership process. I am blessed to be a leader with the women of the LDCCW.

I am going to put out a challenge to the women of this wonderful diocese, come join us and discover the blessings you will receive when you encounter the women of the LDCCW.

Your Sister in Christ

At the end of the day,
I am thankful that my blessings are bigger than my problems.
