

If Marge and Walter have an “I Love You Will”, what do you think will happen? Perhaps, Beth may expect to continue using the cottage. Her kids love it there. She might even feel like the cottage should be hers. After all, she was always there for Mom and Dad. And she has so many cherished memories at the cottage. Dave and Mark may want to sell the cottage. After all, they never go there and with kids in college, they could use the extra money.

Would Mom and Dad want their children fighting over the cottage? No, they would not! We know from the LifePlan™ workshop, that a Will is just instructions to the Probate Court. How will this be resolved? Probate Court! That means attorney fee's! Time! Anxiety and Stress!

There are alternatives to an “I Love You Will”. Our experienced Estate Planning attorneys explain options and counsel folks on how to best achieve their goals. It all starts at Step #1, education at a LifePlan™ workshop.

Roses are Red, Violets are Blue, Plan your Estate and your Wishes will come True.