

Legislative Update

Week of June 2, 2025

Josh Stein, Governor

Eddie M. Buffaloe, Jr., Secretary

The General Assembly returned to work this week following a brief legislative break after Memorial Day. Several bills were heard in committees, with floor votes taking place on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Amid various policy discussions, select members worked behind the scenes on budget negotiations. These budget discussions are being handled by a group of appointed conferees, made up of both Senators and Representatives. The conference committee was formed after the House passed its version of the budget. As a reminder, conference committees are tasked with working out the differences between the House and Senate versions of the budget through private negotiations. If they do not come to an agreement, the current state budget will remain in effect.

Both DPS agency bills moved through the legislative process this week with unanimous approvals in both chambers. H 897 was first referred to House Judiciary 2 and was presented on Tuesday. There was no debate, and the bill was reported favorable. H 897 will now go to the House Finance Committee for consideration. S 710 passed both the Senate Finance Committee and the Senate Rules Committee this week. It has now cleared all of its referral committees and will go to the Senate for a floor vote. Having two agency bills in play increases the likelihood that our proposals will become law.

The House still plans to adjourn by July 1, signaling a very active June ahead.
