Bring Your Economic Development Site to Life ~

Bringing your economic development site to life via the internet can be challenging. It's hard to know all the information a site selector might be looking for and it's especially difficult to help site selectors envision the site's full development potential.

Trying to help overcome these challenges and utilizing Esri's multi-media technologies, we've developed a cost-effective solution with our StoryMaps. A StoryMap includes:

- an overview of the community and area industries,
- site utilities and transportation access information,
- a conceptual site layout,
- a 3-D view of the conceptual layout, and more.

This information is easy to navigate, and the 3-D layout goes beyond a conceptual layout to bring the site to life and help a site selector envision the site's development potential. Curious about the StoryMap experience? Feel free to take your own StoryMap tour here.
