

September 2019

Curiosity Lab at Peachtree Corners Teams Up with Georgia Tech and Delta

Curiosity Lab at Peachtree Corners is collaborating with Georgia Tech and Delta to support autonomous mobility development and research. The collaboration will provide critical seed funding for Georgia Tech researchers.

As autonomous vehicle research advances across the world, Delta sees potential applications for autonomous cars, trucks or buses at airports. The AV technology could be used to help customers make tight connections across an airport, deliver delayed baggage to customers or transport aircraft parts to airports.

Read the full press release here.

Visit the website for more details about Curiosity Lab.

###