Meet Them Where They Are: A Montessori Approach to Supporting Your Child at Home

Grace • Courtesy • Independence • Connection

Join us for an evening exploring how we can support children through everyday challenges while honoring their individual development, preserving their independence, and keeping Montessori principles at the heart of home life.

Together, we'll explore practical ways to support the development of executive functioning skills, independence, grace and courtesy, and healthy relationships with technology—while learning how to recognize when our children need a little extra support and when the most helpful thing we can do is step back and let them try.

We'll begin the evening together in the gym for a brief overview of the Montessori approach to supporting children at home. From there, families will have the opportunity to choose the level that best fits their child—Toddler, Primary, Lower Elementary, Upper Elementary, or Middle School—to join our guides for meaningful conversations and practical insights specific to their child's stage of development. The Toddler discussion will also address toilet learning support at home.

Come learn, ask questions, share experiences, and connect with our Montessori community as we explore ways to support our children with intention, grace, and respect—at school and at home.

We'll have refreshments, including iced coffee, to enjoy along the way!

From the Universe to Me: Exploring the Interconnected World of Montessori Cultural Curriculum

History • Science • Geography • Culture • Connection

Why do we study the stars, the Earth, plants, animals, people, civilizations, and the stories of humanity? In Montessori, these studies are not separate subjects—they are pieces of one great, interconnected story.

Join us for a Family Education Night exploring the Montessori Cultural Curriculum and the way it helps children understand their place in the world. We'll explore the interconnected studies of history, science, geography, and culture, and how these ideas grow with the child through Montessori's spiral curriculum.

From the youngest child's first discoveries of the world around them to the increasingly complex questions explored in Middle School, Montessori continually invites children to wonder, investigate, make connections, and see the relationships between all things.
