2019 REAL ESTATE FORUM

THE EVOLUTION OF REAL ESTATE: E-COMMERCE IMPACT

This event seeks to keep all real estate professionals, from developers to attorneys and valuation experts, current to the changing dynamics of the real estate market – with e-commerce impacting all real estate types and end users. These changes can impact values in a positive or negative way and it is pertinent that all professionals understand these changes. A "must attend" for all in the industry.

Our keynote speaker will be Garrick Brown, Vice President, Retail Intelligence at Cushman & Wakefield. He speaks frequently at industry events and is regularly quoted by the Wall Street Journal, the CBS Evening News, CNBC, National Public Radio, and dozens of business journals and other industry publications.

This event promises to be a lively discussion of how e-commerce is impacting the many facets of the real estate world—with changes to the way we live, work and shop! With both public and private market participants, the forum will appeal to a broad range of the real estate community.

Make sure to secure your spot! Prepare to be educated on the changing dynamics of real estate as we know it, thanks to the influences of e-commerce – as our keynote speaker promises to deliver a robust and insightful discussion, complimented by two panels of local market participants to expand on related topics, and enhance local knowledge and applicability of the issues being discussed. With both public and private market participants.
