

Robert Mitchell
Senior Vice President of business development,

RiskScreen

Robert Mitchell is the Senior Vice President of business development at RiskScreen.

Based in the company's London office, Rob has vast experience in the governance, risk, and compliance market, and is responsible for growing the firm's corporate client base in Europe, Middle East and Africa.

Rob joined from a seven-year tenure at Exiger, where he helped grow Exiger from a start-up to a recognised and world leading name in Third-Party Risk Management due diligence software. Previously, Rob was a Director within the Forensic Services Practice at PwC.

Prior to PwC, Rob worked for World-Check for ten years, helping take the business from a start-up to the global industry standard Due Diligence database, leading to its highly successful sale to Thomson Reuters in 2011.
