

Kevin Gailey

Midwest Academy - Head of School

kgailey@mymwa.org

- B.S., Psychology, Springfield College
- M.Ed., Elementary Education, Lesley University
- Certificate in Fundraising Management, IU School of Philanthropy
- Certificate in Non-Profit Business Management, IU Kelley School of Business
- M.A., Exercise Sports Science/Administration, University of North Carolina

As the Head of School for Midwest Academy and also a parent of a child with learning differences, Kevin's focus is keeping the child at the center. His passion is providing a progressive education for kids with learning differences since he has seen the tremendous difference that it makes in their lives. After being drawn to these complex learners as a teacher over 25 years ago, he believes that progressive education fits with students' unique stages of development. He enjoys coaching soccer, tinkering with tools, reading books late at night, kayaking, hiking, and fly fishing.