

CANDACE JOLES, BOARD MEMBER

Candace Joles has been working with students with learning disabilities, ADHD, autism, and those at-risk for over twenty years. Currently, she is the Director of Collaborative Opportunities for Postsecondary Education (COPE) Student Support Services at Vincennes University, while previously the Director for the BUILD program at University of Indianapolis and faculty for the STEP program at Vincennes University. Candace received her Doctorate of Education in Special Education from Ball State University. Candace has been married to a person with LD and ADHD for over 15 years.