

April 6, 2017

Dear PPRA Member:

It is that time of year again when we nominate the Philadelphia region's most talented, passionate, and promising public relations professionals. This June we will honor one standout student with the Dr. Jean Brodey Student Achievement Award and one remarkable professional with the President's Fast Track Award.

The Dr. Jean Brodey Student Achievement Award is awarded to a college junior or senior who has exhibited outstanding professional promise in the field of public relations, has an excellent academic track record, and contributes to his or her community. Any PPRA member or internship supervisor in the Philadelphia region may submit nominations for the award. Self-nominations are welcome. The winner receives a commemorative plaque and a $250 cash prize.

The President's Fast Track Award recognizes an up-and-coming professional who has contributed greatly to the organization, the profession, and the community. This professional exemplifies PPRA's vision for the future and has been in the field for 5-8 years. The winning nominee will receive a commemorative plaque presented by PPRA's president and the nominator. PPRA members may submit nominations for themselves or any other member for this prestigious award.

Award winners will be chosen by the PPRA Awards Committee. The awards will be presented at the PPRA Annual Meeting in June (date and location to be determined).

Below are nomination forms for both the Dr. Jean Brodey Student Achievement and President's Fast Track awards. The deadline for receipt of completed nomination forms is Friday, May 5, 2017. Supporting materials to be included with each nomination form must demonstrate the nominee's professional promise, community service, and commitment to the profession. All materials should be emailed to the Philadelphia Public Relations Association at info@ppra.net or mailed to:
